TO ORGANIZE FARMERS OF WEST AND SOUTH

COMBINATION TO DEFEND ALL AGRICULTURE

PLANS BEING MAPPED OUT BY MEMBERS OF CORN BELT CONFERENCE

HOPE TO BRING ABOUT FAVORABLE TARIFF LAWS AND FINANCIAL RELIEF

Des Moines, July 21.—(UP)—The west, middle west and south are to be organized into a gigantic combination for the purpose of defending agriculture. Plans for such an organization were being mapped out today by members of the corn belt conference in session here.

"Protection for all or for none" was the keynote of the committee in adopting resolutions criticising the national administration "for its short sighted policy" in regard to agriculture.

Des Moines today has become the center of activities for farm relief legislation. Both the corn belt committee and the committee of 22 are on the ground with all indications pointing toward a union of their forces for the enactment of tariff laws and other measures by which they hope to bring financial relief to the farm belt. Leaders believe that the voices are certain to be heard in Washington. It was the corn belt committee that adopted the resolutions attacking the administration's farm policy. The committee of 22, composed of two agricultural leaders from each of the 11 agricultural states of the middle west, accepted the same resolutions, thus adding their voice to the clamors for farm relief. Many members of the two groups remained in Des Moines today with the hope of seeing similar declarations placed on the records of the state republican convention.

The resolutions condemned "the short sighted policy expressed by spokesmen for the national administration, including Secretaries Mellon and Hoover and Jardine, which opposes any move to make the tariff effective for agriculture on the ground that to do so would place American industry at a disadvantage in competition with foreign competitors in the export markets of the world.

Such a policy, the corn belt resolution stated, "would bring about industrialization of the nation at the expense of farmers."

The resolutions sounded a note in favor of maintaining American standards of living "for all our people, the farmers included," and pointed out that to make this possible, the farmers must be given all the advantages of protective tariff enjoyed by other industries.

Other portions of the resolutions asked an investigation of Secretary Hoover's actvities "in dominating the functions of the department of agriculture," demanded an investigation of speculations on the grain market and asserted the public should be informed of attempts of industries to subordinate agriculture.

Party politics so far have been kept in the back ground of the committee's deliberations. Leaders insist that their only interest is in the enactment of satisfactory relief measures and the election of a national administration, which will make this possible, "be it republican or democratic."

The name of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and stalwart farm leader, has been mentioned in connection with presidential possibilities only by individuals and has not been heard in general meetings.

U. S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN APPEAL

Washington, July 21.—Industry in general was appealed to today by J. W. O'Leary, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, to aid in finding a solution for the farm problem.

"Without healthy co-operation, there can be no assurance of economic health in either branch of life.

"The ills of agriculture cannot be cured by a touch; teamwork is needed.

"American business means business in the corn belt, in the wheat belt, the cotton belt, the cattle country, in the west as well as in the east, the north no less than the south. It needs the answer as much as does the farmer."

O'Leary said "business had been standing with folded hands, an interested spectator, but that it must become a party to the issue because of the tremendous stake involved."

Summer White House, White Pine Camp, N. J., July 21.—The republican party can hold its slim majority in the senate, Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, a guest at the president's camp, said today.

"Conditions seem most favorable for the republicans," Fess declared, "although we are expecting some hard battles in the fall elections."

Reports of retaliation against the east by the western farmers because of the falure of congress to pass a farm relief bill, were branded as ridiculous by Fess, author of the administration farm bill.

"The western farmers could not prosper more than 24 hours were the eastern industrial centers to stop buying their products. The sections of this country are interdependent and the west realizes that any retaliation would mean general chaos."

Fess expects to see farm relief come up in the senate again at the next session.

While declining to say whether he would reintroduce his bill which was killed in the last days of the last session, he made it plain that the administration was still considering some form of farm relief.

"CORPSE" SITS UP IN MORGUE SCARES ATTENDANTS

Moorhead, Minn., July 21—(UP) A "corpse" that struggled and sat up in the morgue here frightened attendants into speechlessness.

The "corpse" was John Kemp, between 35 and 40 years old, of Jamestown, N. D., who fell to the ground in the business district here, stiffened out, turned purple and ceased breathing. Passersby who picked him up could detect no signs of life. The cause of the attack was a mystery.

After he came to life in the morgue, examination disclosed he had suffered concussion of the brain, a fractured arm and a fractured jaw.

GOV. CHRISTIANSON AT LAKE CITY

GUEST OF HONOR "GOVERNOR'S DAY" AT NATIONAL GUARD ENCAMPMENT

Lake City, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson came here today from his vacation trip and was the guest of honor at "governor's day" of the Minnesota national guard encampment.

Tanned and hardened by their ten days in camp, the national guardsmen were to pass in review before the governor, Col. Erle D. Luce and other officers, and then demonstrate their proficiency in markmansship on the rifle range. Machine gun companies also were to engage in target practice.

Governor Christianson may attend the wedding to be solemnized in the presence of the guardsmen this evenwhen Capt Pickle and Miss Mae Barclay, of Cass Lake, will be married. Lieut. Col. E. C. Clemens will read the marrage service and Captain Pickle's fellow officers will form an "arch of sabers" through which the bride and groom will pass.

McNEIL PLEADS GUILTY TO MILWAUKEE BANK ROBBERY

Milwaukee, Wis., July 21.—(UP)—Mathew McNeil, a member of the gang of bandits, who robbed the Northwestern National bank here in December, 1924, today pleaded guilty to complicity in the robbery when he was arraigned in municipal court. McNeil previously confessed to police that he was implicated in the robbery.

Sentencing was deferred for several days.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JUDGE LUECK

Beaver Dam, Wis., July 21—(UP)—Funeral services for Judge Martin Lueck, who died Saturday were held at the home today.

Leading democratic members from all sections of the state attended the services.

No successor to Judge Lueck as democratic nominee for governor has been selected. However the state central committee will probably meet in Milwaukee the later part of the week and decide upon a successor.

FRENCH CABINET SURVEYS FALL OF ITS FRANC

MAY RESIGN IF MORE FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES FOLLOW

POLITICAL SITUATION SERIOUS AND FORBIDS FURTHER INFLATION

Paris, July 21. — The French government has resigned. The official count of tonight's vote in the chamber of deputies gave the opposition a majority of 17 votes over the government. The unofficial count was 307 to 290.

Pending the official tally, Herriot's defeat is uncertain, as it is possible there will be a considerable change in the vote.

The chamber voted Herriot's government out, 290 to 237, and the government resigned.

Paris, July 21.—Edouard Herriot's 48 hour old government was repudiated by the French chamber today by a vote of misconfidence in the government's financial project, 290 to 237.

The government immediately resigned, leaving France without a government in her greatest postwar extremity.

Violent scenes were enacted outside the parliament building. A mob of 1,000 surged about the entrance shouting "Down with Herriot," while police and republican guards struggled to restore order.

The guards finally dispersed the mob.

Paris, July 21.—The French cabinet was to meet today in extraordinary session at the call of Premier Herriot to consider whether it should resign in the face of financial difficulties which would necessitate tremendous further inflation.

The political situation is so serious that further inflation of from five to six billion francs (approximately $100,000,000 to $125,000,000) undoubtedly would be necessary if the cabinet decided to carry on.

The franc today opened at 241 to the pound and 49.80 to the dollar, a new low record.

The cabinet met and decided to go before the chamber of deputies at 5 P. M. today in an effort to obtain support which would enable it to proceed with the battle to save the franc.

The franc closed stronger today at 45.95 to the dollar and 222.75 to the pound sterling. The opinion was that its strength was due to the expectation that a powerful cabinet of national union was imminent.

EXPECT DEFEAT OF THE GOVERNMENT

Paris, July 21.—Premier Edouard Herriot and his cabinet engaged in the apparently hostile chamber of deputies this afternoon to present their ministerial declaration at the beginning of a session which many observers believed would result in the government's defeat and resignation.

Herriot read the declaration in a deadly silence undisturbed except by his own voice. The cabinet expressed itself against inflation; expressed itself as anxious to stabilize the franc but not exclusively with foreign support, and promised that France would pay her debts although warning that she must retain her independence.

SAYS FRENCH TREASURY ON VERGE OF BANKRUPTCY

Paris, July 21.—Finance Minister De Monzie disclosed to the senate today that the French treasury was on the verge of bankruptcy and the Bank of France, the greatest financial institution in Paris, was likely to be compelled to suspend payments to the government Friday.

De Monzie said there remained only 60,000,000 francs, approximately $12,000,000, in the treasury and that sum probably would be absorbed by close of business today.

De Monzie said the government proposed to authorize the Bank of France to sell foreign currencies to avert the suspension of payments.

De Monzie said he meant suspension of the bank's payments to the government, which means that the government has reached the legal limit of advances from the bank.

ARMORED CARS COPE WITH RIOTS IN CALCUTTA

By W. G. SEABRIDGE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Calcutta, British India, July 21—Three armored cars were called out today to cope with running street battles in which hundreds of Hindus and Moslems were engaging in as as a result of last night's sniping from house tops in which two persons were killed and many injured.

Today's casualties were estimated at 5 dead and 24 injured. The outburst of religious antagonism began with Hindu attacks on the processions last night in connection with the Mohammedan feast of Mohorrum. Heavy rain added to the confusion as the mobs fought in the streets and police sought to restore order.

Police raids were directed against a group of Hindus hitherto unsuspected of vilence, but apparently had been posted on roofs last night to snipe Mohammadan participants in the festal procession.

"LAST MAN'S CLUB" HAS ONLY 3 LEFT

SURVIVORS OF BAND OF 34 CIVIL WAR VETERANS

INVISIBLE COMPANY IS WITH THEM IN SPIRIT AT STILLWATER

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—The pledge of the "Last Man's Club" was kept today by three old men, the survivors of a band of 34 Civil war veterans, who swore allegiance 41 years ago over a bottle of rare old wine.

The three came from separate communities to do honor to their departed comrade. On a table in their meeting place stood a cherrywood case protecting the bottle of wine which is to be the toast of the last two to those who have gone before them.

An invisible company was there with them in spirit. Thirty-one pall-draped chairs were vacant, reminders of the cheerful young men who adopted the ritual of the "Last Man's Club" and proposed that they meet on the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run until but two should be left alive. One chair was newly covered with black—another veteran surrendered to death during the year.

Peter Hall, 78, of Atwater, Minn., presided at the meeting, assuming precedence over the others because of his age, when he called the meeting to order, he looked down on John S. Goff, 83, of St. Paul, and Charles M. Lockwood, 84, of Chamberlain, S. D.

The thirty-first vacant chair until a few years ago was occupied every year by Emil Graff, of St. Cloud, Fla. But in later years, his infirmities prevented him from attending. And since the last meeting, he died.

Few words were spoken by the three. Their glasses were filled with sparkling spring water and they held them high as they whispered in unison:

"To our departed comrades."

Then they adjourned the meeting to next year.

When the 34 members of company "B," first Minnesota volunteer infantry, conscious of the bond established among them on the battlefield, formed the "Last Man's Club," they agreed that on some July 21 in the future, the only living member of their company should toast his comrades with wine. So a bottle was set aside to be brought out once a year from its vault.

But after the number had dwindled, the club altered its ritual. It could not go through with the lonely prospect. So next year or the year after or whenever death has taken another, the two survivors will open the bottle.

That fact was discussed but lightly today. The time is too close when the "Last Man's Club" will meet for the last time.

RAIN REPORTED GENERALLY AND REDUCES HEAT

NUMBER OF DEATHS ASCRIBED TO TORRID WAVE STANDS AT MORE THAN 40

SMALL TORNADOES REPORTED AT MANDAN AND FERGUS FALLS

The edge had been taken off the heat wave in the northwest today by a heavy downpour of rain which lasted throughout the night, but uncomfortable temperatures persisted.

The number of deaths ascribed to the heat wave during the last six days stood at more than forty. Three suicides and three suicide attempts in the Twin Cities were believed to have been due to the weather.

A small tornado struck in Mandan county, North Dakota, wrecking farm buildings, and several were reported to have been injured. Florence Carroll, 17, of Dickinson, N. D., was drowned while swimming. The rain was general in North Dakota and aided crops.

In Minnesota, farmers returned to the harvest fields today after having been deterred from their labors by the intense heat. Audrey Johnson, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henning Johnson, of Minneapolis, was drowned in a bucket of water. Albert Gneve, 56, of Red Wing, was prostrated by the heat and died. A number of other prostrations were reported in the Twin Cities.

Twisters also struck two other sections in the northwest at Raleigh, N. D., and Fergus Falls, Minn., doing some damage. No injuries were reported in these windstorms. Lightning knocked a woman cook unconscious near Raleigh.

Cool and refreshing winds today brought respite from the scorching sun that had held the middle west in the grip of a burning 100 degree temperature for the past two days.

But as temperatures began to fall in the central plains regions, they started to climb on the eastern coast, where unusually high humidity added to the suffering. Parks and even sidewalks in New York were utilized by sweltering apartment dwellers to escape the heat last night.

With record thermometer readings in practically every district in the middle west yesterday, over 50 heat deaths were reported in the district.

Seventeen died in Chicago and a proportional number in central cities.

The hottest place in the United States yesterday was at Sioux City, Ia., where the mercury soared to an official 104. It was 100 in Nashville, Tenn., and 98 in St. Louis, Minneapolis, DesMoines, and Cleveland, Chicago, with 95, spent the hottest July 20 since 1901. On Monday, Mitchell, S. D., reported 108.

The heat wave started on the west coast Sunday and began to roll slowly eastward, reaching the eastern seaboard yesterday. A similar cool wave with its accompanying rains, followed in the west where temperatures registered 20 degrees below normal yesterday. Cooler weather consequently was expected today to encompass the whole of the middle west before night and then pass on to the east tomorrow.

Farmers in the corn growing belt declared that the rains today were of untold benefit to their crops, asserting that had the moisture been postponed a few days longer, their grain would not have been worth harvesting.

HEAVY HAIL FALLS AT HASTINGS

Hastings, Minn., July 21.—Heavy hail fell in Hastings at 10:30 P. M. Tuesday. Some of the stones measured five inches around and one and one-half inches across. However, small grains were not injured by the hailstorm which lasted half an hour.

SMALL TWISTER IN STEELE COUNTY, N. D.

Mandan, N. D., July 21.—A small tornado which struck the Steele-Mandan area in Steele county Tuesday night unroofed barns and wrecked farm buildings, including a house.

A woman cook was injured when lightning destroyed the cook tent of the William Chapin grading outfit near Raleigh, and the small daughter of A. P. Jepson of Raleigh suffered a fractured skull when the wind blew her clothes into an engine drive shaft.

Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of Steele had just left their home when it was wrecked by the wind. They were unhurt. Mrs. Anderson said the shock cured her of rheumatism.

GIRL DROWNED IN RESERVOIR WHILE BATHING

Dickson, N. D., July 21—(UP)—Florence Carroll, 17, daughter of Joseph Carroll, was drowned in the Northern Pacific reservir here last night while bathing. The body was recovered thirty minutes later.

BODY OF MURDER VICTIM FOUND

BLUEBERRY PICKERS STUMBLE ON SAME NEAR GORDON, WISCONSIN

Gordon, Wis., July 21.—(UP)—Blueberry pickers near here today stumbled over the badly decomposed body of a murder victim which had lain through the winter's snow in a secluded spot.

The body was found 150 feet off an old tote road eleven miles northeast of here and 12 miles from the nearest county trunk line highway. In this lonely spit it might never have been discovered but for the chance which led Mrs. John Hylene and several friends into the region to pick berries.

Apparently that of a middle aged man, the body was dressed in rough clothing and timber cruiser's boots. Bullet wounds through the head and neck told how the man had met his death.

Word was sent immediately to the coroner and he ordered the body removed to a Superior morgue while attempts are made to identify it.

Records of missing persons are to be checked.

HORSES AND CATTLE DYING FROM HEAT

Norfolk, Neb., July 21. — Horses and cattle are dying from the heat in northern Holt and Keyapaha counties, where unofficial thermometers have been registering from 110 to 115 degrees, according to reports received here today.

Extreme weather conditions usually are felt in those areas and it is believed the record is nearly correct.

Showers reported this morning at Long Pine and Stewart, Neb., and Fairfax, S. D., with indications of rain over northern Nebraska and southern South Dakota.

100 DEGREES RECORDED

New York, July 21.—The first serious heat wave of 1926 kept middle western and eastern sections of the country sweltering under temperatures running close to the 100 mark and took a heavy toll in deaths and in suffering.

Since Sunday when the heat began to become general, a death toll of at least 80 has been registered, reports to the United Press showed today.

In many sections, particularly along the Atlantic coast, the humidity was high, running over 70, making the heat more oppressive.

At 1 P. M. today the thermometer in New York had reached 91.

High temperatures were reported from interior points.

The death list in the middle west has been the heaviest and today had reached 50.

THIRD HEAT VICTIM AT RED WING

Red Wing, Minn., July 21.—Red Wing had its third death from heat prostration this month when Albert Genevo, 56, veteran of the Spanish American war, died late Tuesday.

Genevo was in perfect health. He walked out on the porch of his home to get relief from the 100 degree temperature and dropped dead to the floor. The wife, a daughter, Gussie Waskey, of Red Wing, and a son, Edward Waskey, of Minneapolis, survive.

SMALL CYCLONE AT MERRILL, WIS.

Merrill, Wis., July 21.—A small cyclone whch struck here today caused thousands of dollars of damages to crops and farm buildings in this vicinity.

BORDER GUARD STRENGTHENED TO CHECK SMUGGLING

TREASURY DEPARTMENT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT AT WASHINGTON

WILL BATTLE SMUGGLING OF LIQUOR, NARCOTICS AND MERCHANDISE

By JOSEPH WASNEY

Washington, July 21.—The treasury department announced today that 235 additional border patrolmen have been appointed, bringing to 545 the federal border police force, which battles the smuggling of liquor, narcotics and merchandise into the United States.

Frank Row, acting dry czar, said the reinforcements would make "a wall of arms and men" around the entire border to prevent customs law violations.

Revenues collected by the patrol will virtually pay the salary and expense of the organization, he predicted.

New York City was given 34 of the new officers. These men will assist regular customs officers in inspecting freight and passenger steamers and tourist luggage for contraband articles.

Vermont has six new officers, northern New York 10, Rochester 4 and Buffalo 4. Along this boundary line considerable jewelry, liquor, narcotics and livestock is run across the border.

Forty-five patrolmen were assigned to the Ohio-Michigan district because of the great liquor traffic on the Great Lakes and along the Detroit river.

Twenty-four patrolmen were assigned to Montana, and Minnesota got three because of the cattle and wheat smuggling and the leakage of liquors into the dry central states from the wet provinces of Canada.

The new officers will be equipped with automobiles along land stations and with motorboats when assigned to water front duty. The equipment will be assigned to the force from machines and boats seized from bootleggers and smugglers.

ALLEGED INSURANCE FRAUD UNEARTHED, AGENT ARRESTED

Willmar, Minn., July 21. — (UP) —An alleged insurance fraud in which false names were used has resulted in the arrests of an agent believed to be Bert Sweeney, of Duluth.

The man gave his name as Al Roberts. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff E. T. Kane, charged with obtaining money from the Northern Mutual Insurance Association, of Blue Earth, by writing forged applications. Municipal Judge A. O. Forsberg fixed his bond at $1,000 and bound him over to the October term of court.

Sheriff Peter Bonde said that "Roberts" admitted obtaining $400 from the insurance company by writing policies for hail and tornado insurance in the names of non-existent farmers.

NO INDICTMENTS IN ALLEGED KIDNAPING CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21—(UP)—The investigation of the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist by a Los Angeles county grand jury is ended and no indictments has been issued.

Late yesterday the grand jury ended its session and reported that "insufficient evidence had prevented issuance of John Doe warrants against Mrs. McPherson's kidnapers."

The report was interpreted as a vote of "no confidence" by the jury of Mrs. McPherson's story that she had been kidnaped and held captive in a hut near the Mexican border.

CRAZED BY HEAT, SHOOTS HIS WIFE, 2 CHILDREN, AND SELF

Newton Fall, O., July 21.—(UP)—Apparently crazed by the heat Robert Preto, 28, shot and killed his wife and two children and then took his own life here during the night. The four bodies each lying in a different room was discovered by Cecil Reinhart, a boarder.

Calcutta, British India, July 21—Three armored cars were called out today to cope with running street battles in which hundreds of Hindus and Moslems were engaging in as as a result of last night's sniping from house tops in which two persons were killed and many injured.

Today's casualties were estimated at 5 dead and 24 injured. The outburst of religious antagonism began with Hindu attacks on the processions last night in connection with the Mohammedan feast of Mohorrum. Heavy rain added to the confusion as the mobs fought in the streets and police sought to restore order.

Police raids were directed against a group of Hindus hitherto unsuspected of vilence, but apparently had been posted on roofs last night to snipe Mohammadan participants in the festal procession.

"LAST MAN'S CLUB" HAS ONLY 3 LEFT

SURVIVORS OF BAND OF 34 CIVIL WAR VETERANS

INVISIBLE COMPANY IS WITH THEM IN SPIRIT AT STILLWATER

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—The pledge of the "Last Man's Club" was kept today by three old men, the survivors of a band of 34 Civil war veterans, who swore allegiance 41 years ago over a bottle of rare old wine.

The three came from separate communities to do honor to their departed comrade. On a table in their meeting place stood a cherry-wood case protecting the bottle of wine which is to be the toast of the last two to those who have gone before them.

An invisible company was there with them in spirit. Thirty-one pall-draped chairs were vacant, reminders of the cheerful young men who adopted the ritual of the "Last Man's Club" and proposed that they meet on the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run until but two should be left alive. One chair was newly covered with black—another veteran surrendered to death during the year.

Peter Hall, 78, of Atwater, Minn., presided at the meeting, assuming precedence over the others because of his age, when he called the meeting to order, he looked down on John S. Goff, 83, of St. Paul, and Charles M. Lockwood, 84, of Chamberlain, S. D.

The thirty-first vacant chair until a few years ago was occupied every year by Emil Graff, of St. Cloud, Fla. But in later years, his infirmities prevented him from attending. And since the last meeting, he died.

Few words were spoken by the three. Their glasses were filled with sparkling spring water and they held them high as they whispered in unison:

"To our departed comrades."

Then they adjourned the meeting to next year.

When the 34 members of company "B," first Minnesota volunteer infantry, conscious of the bond established among them on the battlefield, formed the "Last Man's Club," they agreed that on some July 21 in the future, the only living member of their company should toast his comrades with wine. So a bottle was set aside to be brought out once a year from its vault.

But after the number had dwindled, the club altered its ritual. It could not go through with the lonely prospect. So next year or the year after or whenever death has taken another, the two survivors will open the bottle.

That fact was discussed but lightly today. The time is too close when the "Last Man's Club" will meet for the last time.

RAIN REPORTED GENERALLY AND REDUCES HEAT

NUMBER OF DEATHS ASCRIBED TO TORRID WAVE STANDS AT MORE THAN 40

SMALL TORNADOES REPORTED AT MANDAN AND FERGUS FALLS

The edge had been taken off the heat wave in the northwest today by a heavy downpour of rain which lasted throughout the night, but uncomfortable temperatures persisted.

The number of deaths ascribed to the heat wave during the last six days stood at more than forty. Three suicides and three suicide attempts in the Twin Cities were believed to have been due to the weather.

A small tornado struck in Mandan county, North Dakota, wrecking farm buildings, and several were reported to have been injured. Florence Carroll, 17, of Dickinson, N. D., was drowned while swimming. The rain was general in North Dakota and aided crops.

In Minnesota, farmers returned to the harvest fields today after having been deterred from their labors by the intense heat. Audrey Johnson, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henning Johnson, of Minneapolis, was drowned in a bucket of water. Albert Gneve, 56, of Red Wing, was prostrated by the heat and died. A number of other prostrations were reported in the Twin Cities.

Twisters also struck two other sections in the northwest at Raleigh, N. D., and Fergus Falls, Minn., doing some damage. No injuries were reported in these windstorms. Lightning knocked a woman cook unconscious near Raleigh.

Cool and refreshing winds today brought respite from the scorching sun that had held the middle west in the grip of a burning 100 degree temperature for the past two days.

But as temperatures began to fall in the central plains regions, they started to climb on the eastern coast, where unusually high humidity added to the suffering. Parks and even sidewalks in New York were utilized by sweltering apartment dwellers to escape the heat last night.

With record thermometer readings in practically every district in the middle west yesterday, over 50 heat deaths were reported in the district.

Seventeen died in Chicago and a proportional number in central cities.

The hottest place in the United States yesterday was at Sioux City, Ia., where the mercury soared to an official 104. It was 100 in Nashville, Tenn., and 98 in St. Louis, Minneapolis, DesMoines, and Cleveland, Chicago, with 95, spent the hottest July 20 since 1901. On Monday, Mitchell, S. D., reported 108.

The heat wave started on the west coast Sunday and began to roll slowly eastward, reaching the eastern seaboard yesterday. A similar cool wave with its accompanying rains, followed in the west where temperatures registered 20 degrees below normal yesterday. Cooler weather consequently was expected today to encompass the whole of the middle west before night and then pass on to the east tomorrow.

Farmers in the corn growing belt declared that the rains today were of untold benefit to their crops, asserting that had the moisture been postponed a few days longer, their grain would not have been worth harvesting.

HEAVY HAIL FALLS AT HASTINGS

Hastings, Minn., July 21.—Heavy hail fell in Hastings at 10:30 P. M. Tuesday. Some of the stones measured five inches around and one and one-half inches across. However, small grains were not injured by the hailstorm which lasted half an hour.

SMALL TWISTER IN STEELE COUNTY, N. D.

Mandan, N. D., July 21.—A small tornado which struck the Steele-Mandan area in Steele county Tuesday night unroofed barns and wrecked farm buildings, including a house.

A woman cook was injured when lightning destroyed the cook tent of the William Chapin grading outfit near Raleigh, and the small daughter of A. P. Jepson of Raleigh suffered a fractured skull when the wind blew her clothes into an engine drive shaft.

Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of Steele had just left their home when it was wrecked by the wind. They were unhurt. Mrs. Anderson said the shock cured her of rheumatism.

GIRL DROWNED IN RESERVOIR WHILE BATHING

Dickson, N. D., July 21—(UP)—Florence Carroll, 17, daughter of Joseph Carroll, was drowned in the Northern Pacific reservir here last night while bathing. The body was recovered thirty minutes later.

BODY OF MURDER VICTIM FOUND

BLUEBERRY PICKERS STUMBLE ON SAME NEAR GORDON, WISCONSIN

Gordon, Wis., July 21.—(UP)—Blueberry pickers near here today stumbled over the badly decomposed body of a murder victim which had lain through the winter's snow in a secluded spot.

The body was found 150 feet off an old tote road eleven miles northeast of here and 12 miles from the nearest county trunk line highway. In this lonely spit it might never have been discovered but for the chance which led Mrs. John Hylene and several friends into the region to pick berries.

Apparently that of a middle aged man, the body was dressed in rough clothing and timber cruiser's boots. Bullet wounds through the head and neck told how the man had met his death.

Word was sent immediately to the coroner and he ordered the body removed to a Superior morgue while attempts are made to identify it.

Records of missing persons are to be checked.

HORSES AND CATTLE DYING FROM HEAT

Norfolk, Neb., July 21. — Horses and cattle are dying from the heat in northern Holt and Keyapaha counties, where unofficial thermometers have been registering from 110 to 115 degrees, according to reports received here today.

Extreme weather conditions usually are felt in those areas and it is believed the record is nearly correct.

Showers reported this morning at Long Pine and Stewart, Neb., and Fairfax, S. D., with indications of rain over northern Nebraska and southern South Dakota.

100 DEGREES RECORDED

New York, July 21.—The first serious heat wave of 1926 kept middle western and eastern sections of the country sweltering under temperatures running close to the 100 mark and took a heavy toll in deaths and in suffering.

Since Sunday when the heat began to become general, a death toll of at least 80 has been registered, reports to the United Press showed today.

In many sections, particularly along the Atlantic coast, the humidity was high, running over 70, making the heat more oppressive.

At 1 P. M. today the thermometer in New York had reached 91.

High temperatures were reported from interior points.

The death list in the middle west has been the heaviest and today had reached 50.

THIRD HEAT VICTIM AT RED WING

Red Wing, Minn., July 21.—Red Wing had its third death from heat prostration this month when Albert Genevo, 56, veteran of the Spanish American war, died late Tuesday.

Genevo was in perfect health. He walked out on the porch of his home to get relief from the 100 degree temperature and dropped dead to the floor. The wife, a daughter, Gussie Waskey, of Red Wing, and a son, Edward Waskey, of Minneapolis, survive.

SMALL CYCLONE AT MERRILL, WIS.

Merrill, Wis., July 21.—A small cyclone whch struck here today caused thousands of dollars of damages to crops and farm buildings in this vicinity.

BORDER GUARD STRENGTHENED TO CHECK SMUGGLING

TREASURY DEPARTMENT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT AT WASHINGTON

WILL BATTLE SMUGGLING OF LIQUOR, NARCOTICS AND MERCHANDISE

By JOSEPH WASNEY

Washington, July 21.—The treasury department announced today that 235 additional border patrolmen have been appointed, bringing to 545 the federal border police force, which battles the smuggling of liquor, narcotics and merchandise into the United States.

Frank Row, acting dry czar, said the reinforcements would make "a wall of arms and men" around the entire border to prevent customs law violations.

Revenues collected by the patrol will virtually pay the salary and expense of the organization, he predicted.

New York City was given 34 of the new officers. These men will assist regular customs officers in inspecting freight and passenger steamers and tourist luggage for contraband articles.

Vermont has six new officers, northern New York 10, Rochester 4 and Buffalo 4. Along this boundary line considerable jewelry, liquor, narcotics and livestock is run across the border.

Forty-five patrolmen were assigned to the Ohio-Michigan district because of the great liquor traffic on the Great Lakes and along the Detroit river.

Twenty-four patrolmen were assigned to Montana, and Minnesota got three because of the cattle and wheat smuggling and the leakage of liquors into the dry central states from the wet provinces of Canada.

The new officers will be equipped with automobiles along land stations and with motorboats when assigned to water front duty. The equipment will be assigned to the force from machines and boats seized from bootleggers and smugglers.

ALLEGED INSURANCE FRAUD UNEARTHED, AGENT ARRESTED

Willmar, Minn., July 21. — (UP) —An alleged insurance fraud in which false names were used has resulted in the arrests of an agent believed to be Bert Sweeney, of Duluth.

The man gave his name as Al Roberts. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff E. T. Kane, charged with obtaining money from the Northern Mutual Insurance Association, of Blue Earth, by writing forged applications. Municipal Judge A. O. Forsberg fixed his bond at $1,000 and bound him over to the October term of court.

Sheriff Peter Bonde said that "Roberts" admitted obtaining $400 from the insurance company by writing policies for hail and tornado insurance in the names of non-existent farmers.

NO INDICTMENTS IN ALLEGED KIDNAPING CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21—(UP)—The investigation of the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist by a Los Angeles county grand jury is ended and no indictments has been issued.

Late yesterday the grand jury ended its session and reported that "insufficient evidence had prevented issuance of John Doe warrants against Mrs. McPherson's kidnapers."

The report was interpreted as a vote of "no confidence" by the jury of Mrs. McPherson's story that she had been kidnaped and held captive in a hut near the Mexican border.

CRAZED BY HEAT, SHOOTS HIS WIFE, 2 CHILDREN, AND SELF

Newton Fall, O., July 21.—(UP)—Apparently crazed by the heat Robert Preto, 28, shot and killed his wife and two children and then took his own life here during the night. The four bodies each lying in a different room was discovered by Cecil Reinhart, a boarder.

Varnish Long Used by Artists and Sculptors

The known use of varnish extends as far back as the time of the Egyptians. Many of their wooden mummy cases such as the one containing King Tut were coated with a pale, varnish-like substance.

From the Egyptian period through the first part of the Christian era our knowledge of varnish making is incomplete. It is known, however, that the art was quite widely practiced among artists and sculptors and, in later times, by the monks in the monasteries. At that time, amber—or what they called amber—was used entirely for the better grade varnishes. For the more common varieties sandarac was usually employed, and even frankincense, the much-mentioned Biblical substance, was used for this purpose.

This substance was not, however, the same easy-flowing liquid we know as varnish today. Owing to the absence of any thinner it was a rather thick gummy mass. But as it was intended to be spread or rubbed on with the fingers a thinner vehicle was not desired. Usually the old recipes added, no doubt for the benefit of particular ones, that the varnish might be applied with a clean sponge substituting for the fingers.

Gold Discovery Due to Shrewd Observer

Gold was discovered in Australia, the great island continent, for the first time about seventy-five years ago, by Edward Hargreaves, who was a California forty-niner, and who was struck with a similarity between the strata and rocks of the district of Corobolas, near Bathurst, Australia, and those of the Golden state.

When he returned from California he began digging and in 1851, on February 12, he struck gold in considerable quantities. The news caused intense excitement throughout New South Wales, thousands flocking to the "find."

A few months later an aborigine found a large lump of gold among a heap of quartz, and soon after a miner found 122 pounds of gold in three blocks of quartz. Gold to the value of $48,000,000 was shipped to England in the first two years after its discovery by Hargreaves.—Chicago Journal.

It Wasn't Love

Miss Simpkins was of uncertain appearance and age, and rather frightened De Vere, a young assistant in a chemist's shop, by her demonstrations of friendship. He felt sure she meant to hook him. Chance threw them alone one day, and De Vere felt that his hour had come.

"Mr. De Vere," said Miss Simpkins, "I can no longer bear this unspeakable anguish. I have at last plucked up courage to ask you a question that concerns my future happiness and comfort. Will—will you be—"

"Madam," gasped De Vere, "it—it would break my heart to refuse. I have every regard and respect for—"

"Sir, what do you mean?" gasped Miss Simpkins. "Surely you can't object to my asking what brand of corncure you can recommend?"

Morris Dance Old Pastime

The Morris is a corruption wrought by time on an old French word, morisque, meaning simply Moorish. The Morris dance is an obsolete English dance said to have been of Moorish origin. It was extremely popular about 300 years ago. When danced in connection with May day it was an elaborate costume dance, in which were introduced the characters of Robin Hood, Maid Marian, Friar Tuck, Little John, a dragon, a bobby horse, etc. The costumes were usually decorated with small bells. A later version of the Morris dance survives in the northern counties of England.

Father of Canning

Appert, a Frenchman, introduced the method for canning fruits and vegetables, although it was a relative of his who made the process practical. Rillieux, also a Frenchman, made the use of sugar more practical by cutting the boiling fuel for a pound from one pound of coal to two ounces. In later years dehydration, the use of compressed air and the vacuum have been used in preserving food products.

Ed. Hedstrom, manager of the local Red Owl store was the winner of a beautiful 100 piece Haviland china dinner set which was given as a reward by the Red Owl chain stores to the store that sold the greatest amount of Pickwick coffee in a month's time. The Brainerd store is one of a group of eighty so according to circumstantial evidence Brainerd is "some coffee center."

Rev. Morris L. Eversz, pastor of the M. E. church, writes from the Arrowhead Epworth League Institute at Barnum that the Brainerd Epworthians arrived safely and one hundred delegates from different places are in attendance. Henry Cunningham and Helen Lammon from Brainerd were elected to the Institute council which makes rules for the governing of the camp and Clayton Mayo, also of this city, was elected registrar.

Varnish Long Used by Artists and Sculptors

The known use of varnish extends as far back as the time of the Egyptians. Many of their wooden mummy cases such as the one containing King Tut were coated with a pale, varnish-like substance.

From the Egyptian period through the first part of the Christian era our knowledge of varnish making is incomplete. It is known, however, that the art was quite widely practiced among artists and sculptors and, in later times, by the monks in the monasteries. At that time, amber—or what they called amber—was used entirely for the better grade varnishes. For the more common varieties sandarac was usually employed, and even frankincense, the much-mentioned Biblical substance, was used for this purpose.

This substance was not, however, the same easy-flowing liquid we know as varnish today. Owing to the absence of any thinner it was a rather thick gummy mass. But as it was intended to be spread or rubbed on with the fingers a thinner vehicle was not desired. Usually the old recipes added, no doubt for the benefit of particular ones, that the varnish might be applied with a clean sponge substituting for the fingers.

Gold Discovery Due to Shrewd Observer

Gold was discovered in Australia, the great island continent, for the first time about seventy-five years ago, by Edward Hargreaves, who was a California forty-niner, and who was struck with a similarity between the strata and rocks of the district of Corobolas, near Bathurst, Australia, and those of the Golden state.

When he returned from California he began digging and in 1851, on February 12, he struck gold in considerable quantities. The news caused intense excitement throughout New South Wales, thousands flocking to the "find."

A few months later an aborigine found a large lump of gold among a heap of quartz, and soon after a miner found 122 pounds of gold in three blocks of quartz. Gold to the value of $48,000,000 was shipped to England in the first two years after its discovery by Hargreaves.—Chicago Journal.

It Wasn't Love

Miss Simpkins was of uncertain appearance and age, and rather frightened De Vere, a young assistant in a chemist's shop, by her demonstrations of friendship. He felt sure she meant to hook him. Chance threw them alone one day, and De Vere felt that his hour had come.

"Mr. De Vere," said Miss Simpkins, "I can no longer bear this unspeakable anguish. I have at last plucked up courage to ask you a question that concerns my future happiness and comfort. Will—will you be—"

"Madam," gasped De Vere, "it—it would break my heart to refuse. I have every regard and respect for—"

"Sir, what do you mean?" gasped Miss Simpkins. "Surely you can't object to my asking what brand of corncure you can recommend?"

Morris Dance Old Pastime

The Morris is a corruption wrought by time on an old French word, morisque, meaning simply Moorish. The Morris dance is an obsolete English dance said to have been of Moorish origin. It was extremely popular about 300 years ago. When danced in connection with May day it was an elaborate costume dance, in which were introduced the characters of Robin Hood, Maid Marian, Friar Tuck, Little John, a dragon, a bobby horse, etc. The costumes were usually decorated with small bells. A later version of the Morris dance survives in the northern counties of England.

Father of Canning

Appert, a Frenchman, introduced the method for canning fruits and vegetables, although it was a relative of his who made the process practical. Rillieux, also a Frenchman, made the use of sugar more practical by cutting the boiling fuel for a pound from one pound of coal to two ounces. In later years dehydration, the use of compressed air and the vacuum have been used in preserving food products.

Marionettes in History

Marionettes played their parts in the fragrant groves of Nippur and in the hanging gardens of Babylon. Puppets of terra cotta amused the children of the kings of the Nile before the days of the pharaohs.

Their history dates back into the dawn of civilization, long before written chronicles began. Famous men from Sargon I to Bernard Shaw, from William the Conqueror to Wilhelm of Doorn, have been entertained by them.

It may be that the puppets have survived the iconoclastic progress of the centuries because they appeal to the atom of philosophy tucked away in the brain of each human being.

Poor Pulcinella Hung on a coat tree to await the next night's tragedy.

Modern Mother and Child

A woman who is so fashionable that she is almost a stranger to her little son decided that it was about time she became acquainted with him.

She read old books about the things mothers used to do, such as singing lullabies and rocking to sleep.

And then, one night, she sent her nurse out and stayed at home, just for a new sensation.

She crept into her little son's bedroom, and began to croon, as she pushed the bed about, "Hush-a-bye, baby, on the tree-top."

The child turned a wondering eye on her, and then said, sleepily:

"I say, cut that stuff out, mother. A fellow wants to get some sleep."

World Needs Its Nitrogen

Extraction of nitrogen from the air on a large scale might make the weather wetter, as has been suggested, but an effect more far-reaching in another direction would result, according to scientists. It would increase the proportion of oxygen, they assert. Hence, humans would mature and live quicker and die younger; everything would become dryer, hotter and faster, and eventually the world would spontaneously burst into flame.

Inward Beautifiers

A dear old Quaker lady was asked, says the Lyons News, what she used to make her complexion so lovely and her whole being so bright and attractive. She answered: "I use for the lips, truth; for the voice, prayer; for the eyes, pity; for the hands, charity; for the figure, uprighteousness, and for the heart, love."—Boston Transcript.

Every Inch a Real Home is this Colonial Type

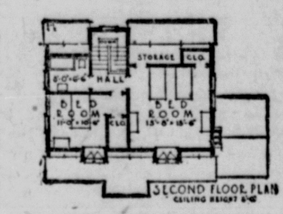

DEMURE enough from the outside, there are some surprising features within this friendly little Colonial house. Like its New England prototype, one pictures it at its best in some quiet suburban or rural setting, away from the bustle and noise of the city, and surrounded by trees, shrubbery and well-kept lawns.

The line of the gambrel roof is broken by the two little box dormers protruding in front, but makes up for the detour continuing its way down over the white pillared entrance. Deep cream siding, brown shutters and weathered shingles is one combination of materials and colors that blends well with almost any environment. Then there is always chaste white with green shutters and roof for contrast. Grey, with just the right shade of blue shutters, has also been used successfully. The walls and roof are made to resist heat and cold by sheathing with celotex, on which the siding is nailed instead of to wood sheathing. The chimney is of common brick and may be whitewashed if preferred.

Stepping inside, one gets a surprise: a living room practically forty feet long. That is what it amounts to with the open vista of dining room, living room and sun porch practically in one and giving an atmosphere of spaciousness and hospitality.

To the family that likes good times and does plenty of entertaining this unusual arrangement should make a strong appeal. Push back a few pieces of furniture, roll up the rugs, tune in the radio and who could ask for a better place to dance!

Two small china closets serve to set off the dining room on the left, while the open fireplace has a French door on either side leading into the sunroom. This room, of course, can be an open porch if preferred, but most families like the year-round use afforded by enclosure.

Very little space is given over to halls and stairways. The service entrance and basement and second story stairs are all grouped together in one compact little area at the back.

The kitchen is replete with the built-in features that the practical housekeeper has come to look upon as a necessity and her right in any modern house.

The down stairs bedroom, with its adjacent lavatory and toilet, is another outstanding feature. Such a room meets any number of emergencies, as it can be used as a sickroom, guest chamber, playroom or sewing room, as occasion arises. It has two clothes closets and a small linen closet just outside the door.

Upstairs are two good-sized bedrooms and bathroom. Exceptional closet and storage space has been provided here, also. It is hard to find a square inch that has not been utilized. By finishing the upstairs walls with celotex a considerable saving may be made. Left either plain or decorated with some dainty stencil, these walls are extremely effective and durable. If at any later time a plaster finish is wanted, the plaster may be supplied right over this base.

Father's Day

The third Sunday in June has been set aside as Father's day. Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was the founder of this day and the Y. M. C. A. and Ministerial Association of Spokane, Wash., brought her idea to the attention of people throughout the country. Father's day was first celebrated in Spokane in 1910.

Medical Man Gets No Thrills in Sideshow

The sideshow is commonly regarded as blood-curdling and mirth-provoking. It has become a byword to indicate lightness, hilarity and utter nonsense.

With a medical friend, I visited the sideshow before entering the big circus tent. I enumerate some of the exhibits:

1. A number of small cretins.
2. A case of acromegaly—a man eight and one-half feet tall.
3. Two albinos, mentally subnormal, who seemed unhappy, uncomfortable and constantly blinking, advertised as "men from Mars."
4. A sad case of rickets, advertised as a "man from Borneo."
5. A pathologic case of obesity, a young girl weighing more than 600 pounds.
6. A man with pathological and abnormal growth of hair over his face and body, advertised as the "dog man."
7. Three healthy-looking young girls about eighteen, advertised as "triplets."
8. A case of progressive mus atrophy, well advanced, adve the "rail man."

There were others. The sideshow to a medical man is a collection of pathological and abnormal individuals which affords him a more or less interesting field of study.—Letter to Philadelphia Ledger.

Simple Chemise Worn by Marie Antoinette

I studied with interest the other day a certain modest and pathetically simple garment displayed in one of the showcases of the Carnavalet museum. It was a long blouse effect of linen, chastely decollette and with short hemmed sleeves. Near one shoulder—unless a reflection in the glass deceived me—was a patiently executed darn.

Upon this garment was neither lace, nor embroidery, nor ribbon—none of the things, in short, demanded by even the least coquettish women of today for her intimate wearing apparel.

Below this exhibit was the notice: "Chemise worn by Marie Antoinette in the Temple."

Where is the woman of today who, confronted by this pathetic relic, would dare ratify the judgment of history and charge with coquetry a queen whose chemise she would scorn to wear even down to her last sou?—Le Matin, Paris.

Pomposity Rebuked

A certain man is inclined to be pompous and obstinate. A short time ago he visited a navy dockyard, and somehow managed to get aboard a vessel where visitors were at the time excluded.

An officer encountered him upon the deck and told him that he could not remain. The visitor swelled up and said that he was a taxpayer, that as such he owned part of the warship upon which he was standing, and that he had a right to be aboard and would not depart.

The officer looked at him a moment. Then he walked over to an anchor chain and with his pocketknife scraped a bit of rust from it. Returning to the visitor, he offered him the flake of rust, and said:

"Here's your share of this ship. Take it and get out."—London Answers.

Be Lenient in Judging

Learn to make allowances for the old and young, the wise and illiterate, the wealthy and impoverished. Temper judgment with kindness; help instead of condemning. Many people never get out of the shadow. Penury pulls at their heartstrings and ill-health discolors their outlook.

The benefit of a charitable fellowship is that the man who gains it is wonderfully helped. Southey says: "He who is most charitable in his judgment is generally the least unjust." Things brighten for him and he remembers, when he sees another less favorably placed than himself, that place might easily have been filled by himself.

So long as a man is trying, though he may fail, he is worth help and tolerance, for such a man is doing his best.—London Tit-Bits.

Locomotive's Breathing

The puffing of a railway engine is a common enough sound, but few people know by what it is regulated. Actually the number of puffs made by a locomotive in the course of a journey depends on the circumference of its driving wheels.

No matter what the speed of the train may be, the engine will give four puffs for every complete turn of the driving wheels. The wheels may vary in circumference, but the average is 20 feet.

With average driving wheels and a speed of 50 miles an hour, a locomotive will give 880 puffs a minute, or 52,800 puffs an hour, the driving wheels performing 13,200 complete revolutions in the 60 minutes.

Jazz May Yet Become Aristocrat of Music

CAROLYN BEEBE

Strings and Woodwinds Will Refine Its Tones, Says Miss Beebe

New York City.—Playing jazz on strings and woodwinds may yet make an aristocrat of the former outcast.

This is the opinion of Carolyn Beebe, who organized the orchestra of the New York Chamber Music Society and directs it.

"When jazz first came into existence," says Miss Beebe, "there were no strings and scarcely any woodwinds included in the orchestras that played it. The result was a harsh, blaring tone which brought down volumes of criticism upon the music makers—that is, if you could call them music makers.

"The early jazz, you know, was not orchestrated. That is, every player simply made up his part as he went along, following the lead of the man at the piano, who often was the only member of the band who could read music at all.

"Gradually, however, experimenters with jazz discovered that strings and woodwinds tended to soften the tone without in any way lessening the vivacity and expressiveness of the music.

"Accordingly, clever leaders began to use the violin and the cello with such excellent results that today, jazz is scarcely recognizable in such a piece as 'Dorothy,' a syncopated version of Faust. Nowhere could you hear lovelier music than this makes when played by a first class, modern jazz orchestra."

Miss Beebe directs an orchestra composed entirely of men. She believes that women make good conductors.

Marionettes in History

Marionettes played their parts in the fragrant groves of Nippur and in the hanging gardens of Babylon. Puppets of terra cotta amused the children of the kings of the Nile before the days of the pharaohs.

Their history dates back into the dawn of civilization, long before written chronicles began. Famous men from Sargon I to Bernard Shaw, from William the Conqueror to Wilhelm of Doorn, have been entertained by them.

It may be that the puppets have survived the iconoclastic progress of the centuries because they appeal to the atom of philosophy tucked away in the brain of each human being.

Poor Pulcinella Hung on a coat tree to await the next night's tragedy.

Modern Mother and Child

A woman who is so fashionable that she is almost a stranger to her little son decided that it was about time she became acquainted with him.

She read old books about the things mothers used to do, such as singing lullabies and rocking to sleep.

And then, one night, she sent her nurse out and stayed at home, just for a new sensation.

She crept into her little son's bedroom, and began to croon, as she pushed the bed about, "Hush-a-bye, baby, on the tree-top."

The child turned a wondering eye on her, and then said, sleepily:

"I say, cut that stuff out, mother. A fellow wants to get some sleep."

World Needs Its Nitrogen

Extraction of nitrogen from the air on a large scale might make the weather wetter, as has been suggested, but an effect more far-reaching in another direction would result, according to scientists. It would increase the proportion of oxygen, they assert. Hence, humans would mature and live quicker and die younger; everything would become dryer, hotter and faster, and eventually the world would spontaneously burst into flame.

Inward Beautifiers

A dear old Quaker lady was asked, says the Lyons News, what she used to make her complexion so lovely and her whole being so bright and attractive. She answered: "I use for the lips, truth; for the voice, prayer; for the eyes, pity; for the hands, charity; for the figure, uprighteousness, and for the heart, love."—Boston Transcript.

Every Inch a Real Home is this Colonial Type

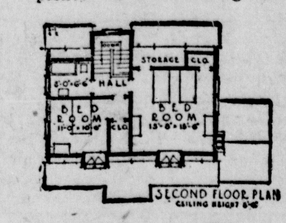

DEMURE enough from the outside, there are some surprising features within this friendly little Colonial house. Like its New England prototype, one pictures it at its best in some quiet suburban or rural setting, away from the bustle and noise of the city, and surrounded by trees, shrubbery and well-kept lawns.

The line of the gambrel roof is broken by the two little box dormers protruding in front, but makes up for the detour continuing its way down over the white pillared entrance. Deep cream siding, brown shutters and weathered shingles is one combination of materials and colors that blends well with almost any environment. Then there is always chaste white with green shutters and roof for contrast. Grey, with just the right shade of blue shutters, has also been used successfully. The walls and roof are made to resist heat and cold by sheathing with celotex, on which the siding is nailed instead of to wood sheathing. The chimney is of common brick and may be whitewashed if preferred.

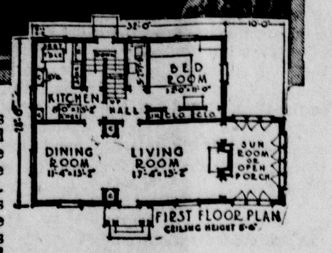

Stepping inside, one gets a surprise: a living room practically forty feet long. That is what it amounts to with the open vista of dining room, living room and sun porch practically in one and giving an atmosphere of spaciousness and hospitality.

To the family that likes good times and does plenty of entertaining this unusual arrangement should make a strong appeal. Push back a few pieces of furniture, roll up the rugs, tune in the radio and who could ask for a better place to dance!

Two small china closets serve to set off the dining room on the left, while the open fireplace has a French door on either side leading into the sunroom. This room, of course, can be an open porch if preferred, but most families like the year-round use afforded by enclosure.

Very little space is given over to halls and stairways. The service entrance and basement and second story stairs are all grouped together in one compact little area at the back.

The kitchen is replete with the built-in features that the practical housekeeper has come to look upon as a necessity and her right in any modern house.

The down stairs bedroom, with its adjacent lavatory and toilet, is another outstanding feature. Such a room meets any number of emergencies, as it can be used as a sickroom, guest chamber, playroom or sewing room, as occasion arises. It has two clothes closets and a small linen closet just outside the door.

Upstairs are two good-sized bedrooms and bathroom. Exceptional closet and storage space has been provided here, also. It is hard to find a square inch that has not been utilized. By finishing the upstairs walls with celotex a considerable saving may be made. Left either plain or decorated with some dainty stencil, these walls are extremely effective and durable. If at any later time a plaster finish is wanted, the plaster may be supplied right over this base.

Father's Day

The third Sunday in June has been set aside as Father's day. Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was the founder of this day and the Y. M. C. A. and Ministerial Association of Spokane, Wash., brought her idea to the attention of people throughout the country. Father's day was first celebrated in Spokane in 1910.

Medical Man Gets No Thrills in Sideshow

The sideshow is commonly regarded as blood-curdling and mirth-provoking. It has become a byword to indicate lightness, hilarity and utter nonsense.

With a medical friend, I visited the sideshow before entering the big circus tent. I enumerate some of the exhibits:

1. A number of small cretins.
2. A case of acromegaly—a man eight and one-half feet tall.
3. Two albinos, mentally subnormal, who seemed unhappy, uncomfortable and constantly blinking, advertised as "men from Mars."
4. A sad case of rickets, advertised as a "man from Borneo."
5. A pathologic case of obesity, a young girl weighing more than 600 pounds.
6. A man with pathological and abnormal growth of hair over his face and body, advertised as the "dog man."
7. Three healthy-looking young girls about eighteen, advertised as "triplets."
8. A case of progressive mus atrophy, well advanced, adver the "rail man."

There were others. The sideshow to a medical man is a collection of pathological and abnormal individuals which affords him a more or less interesting field of study.—Letter to Philadelphia Ledger.

Simple Chemise Worn by Marie Antoinette

I studied with interest the other day a certain modest and pathetically simple garment displayed in one of the showcases of the Carnavalet museum. It was a long blouse effect of linen, chastely decollette and with short hemmed sleeves. Near one shoulder—unless a reflection in the glass deceived me—was a patiently executed darn.

Upon this garment was neither lace, nor embroidery, nor ribbon—none of the things, in short, demanded by even the least coquettish women of today for her intimate wearing apparel.

Below this exhibit was the notice: "Chemise worn by Marie Antoinette in the Temple."

Where is the woman of today who, confronted by this pathetic relic, would dare ratify the judgment of history and charge with coquetry a queen whose chemise she would scorn to wear even down to her last sou?—Le Matin, Paris.

Pomposity Rebuked

A certain man is inclined to be pompous and obstinate. A short time ago he visited a navy dockyard, and somehow managed to get aboard a vessel where visitors were at the time excluded.

An officer encountered him upon the deck and told him that he could not remain. The visitor swelled up and said that he was a taxpayer, that as such he owned part of the warship upon which he was standing, and that he had a right to be aboard and would not depart.

The officer looked at him a moment. Then he walked over to an anchor chain and with his pocketknife scraped a bit of rust from it. Returning to the visitor, he offered him the flake of rust, and said:

"Here's your share of this ship. Take it and get out."—London Answers.

Be Lenient in Judging

Learn to make allowances for the old and young, the wise and illiterate, the wealthy and impoverished. Temper judgment with kindness; help instead of condemning. Many people never get out of the shadow. Penury pulls at their heartstrings and ill-health discolors their outlook.

The benefit of a charitable fellowship is that the man who gains it is wonderfully helped. Southey says: "He who is most charitable in his judgment is generally the least unjust." Things brighten for him and he remembers, when he sees another less favorably placed than himself, that place might easily have been filled by himself.

So long as a man is trying, though he may fail, he is worth help and tolerance, for such a man is doing his best.—London Tit-Bits.

Locomotive's Breathing

The puffing of a railway engine is a common enough sound, but few people know by what it is regulated. Actually the number of puffs made by a locomotive in the course of a journey depends on the circumference of its driving wheels.

No matter what the speed of the train may be, the engine will give four puffs for every complete turn of the driving wheels. The wheels may vary in circumference, but the average is 20 feet.

With average driving wheels and a speed of 50 miles an hour, a locomotive will give 880 puffs a minute, or 52,800 puffs an hour, the driving wheels performing 13,200 complete revolutions in the 60 minutes.

ON BUILDING A HOME

FLOURISHING diplomas, the annual crop of school graduates plunges out into the world. And what is the biggest thing to be done? It's looking for and getting a job. The best education in the world is no good, if it cannot be put to use for yourself, your family or the world at large.

Many of us, sophisticated and more or less disillusioned, josh the graduates a lot, much as seasoned veterans josh the new troops marching up for their baptism of shells.

The diploma army annually gets a wave of reinforcements. The newcomers are needed. It would be a sorry world without them. They bring pep, enthusiasm, ambition, determination and most valuable of all, youth.

We wish the young people a world of success in their endeavors. An authority has given these rules which may bring success:

Follow the line of work you like best, regardless of obstacles or the objections from others. Rising to success when one's heart is not in his work is like trying to swim with all kinds of handicaps.

Remember that an individual, like an army, can lose many battles and still win the war. Do not let temporary setbacks discourage you. They are sent to develop latent power and ability.

Plan far ahead. Youth can take chances which old age dare not take. Starting for next to nothing in wages when the future looks bright is better than a beginner's job that pays three times as much but has an uncertain future.

There are no short-cuts to success.

Don't be afraid of making mistakes. But remember this very essential good point. Keep indelible record of your failures and don't make the same mistake twice, or it may grow into a habit. We profit by our mistakes if we keep a card index on them and avoid repeating them in the future.

LOOKING FOR A JOB

IN building a house, whether it's a home for yourself or a garage for your car, allow a lot of leeway for the final expense bill. No carpenter, no architect, no lumberman, no next door neighbor is able to figure out things to the last cent.

Plans are changed, additions are made, hardware altered, etc., all spelling a change in the building budget. If you go about the job leisurely, with an open mind, and let the Lady of the House who rides on the back seat also have her chance for a word or two, why, changes will be frequent and building costs will hop up and down with the facility of a weight on one of those carnival cigar punching machines.

Still, it's quite an occupation to do the figuring before building, while building and after the building is erected and then if the financial mark has been over-shot, in meeting the bills which press for solution.

And if things press hard, thank goodness there is a local building and loan association and kind bankers to help you. It would be wiser, however, to first see them before you build, than in waiting for sage advice after you have indulged in a building spree.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

SOME months ago the Chicago Tribune had a contest and offered a large cash prize to the one offering a suitable name for its Sunday magazine. Well, the winner brought in the name of "Liberty" magazine.

But it's not a new cognomen, by any means. For some 21 years a magazine published by the Review and Herald Publishing Association, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C., appears to have issued an official organ designated "Liberty", mouthpiece of the Religious Liberty Association. In its platform of ten points, are these especially prominent ones:

"We believe that all religious legislation tends to unite church and state, is subversive of human rights, persecuting in character, and opposed to the best interests of both church and state.

"We believe, therefore, that it is not within the province of civil government to legislate on religious questions."

True, in this age, there is all kinds of liberty, but we fail to see where the Chicago Tribune found anything new in selecting "Liberty" as the name of its magazine.

COMPLETION OF PAVING CELEBRATION

THE coming completion of the paving from Belle Prairie to Brainerd is attracting the attention of neighboring towns. Brainerd well realizes the value of this concrete road, which means just as much as another railway coming to Brainerd.

Among the speakers at the celebration will be Governor Theodore Christianson and Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock, invitations having already been extended to them. Mayors from many cities will be extended invitations to be present, as well as many other state, county and city offiifficials, cement and other manufacturers, professional and business men and all the car and buggy owners.

Over 11 miles of highway have been completed and the highway will now probably be finished by September.

THEY do things on a big scale in New York city. The city will soon receive its milk supply in tank cars, each tank holding 6,000 gallons. The tank is glass lined covered with cork and is built of steel plates which provides perfect refrigeration.

THE French seem to have an idea that the mere election of a new cabinet will settle the tobogganing tactics of the elusive French franc.

Values of Steel

Pig iron, worth $25 a ton, when made into piano wire, is worth $50,000 a ton; as hair springs, its value is $5,160,000 a ton, and as surgical instruments it is worth $2,500,000. This shows the way man's work increases value.

Use Wisdom in Reproof

A man takes contradiction and advice much more easily than people think, only he will not bear it when violently given, even though it be well founded.—Richter.

To Remove Burnt Marks

Salt moistened with vinegar will remove burnt marks from enameled saucepans and dishes. Don't forget that they should be soaked in cold water for a few hours first to loosen the stains.

Discovered Gyroscope

The gyroscope was invented by Jean Bernard Leon Foucault, a distinguished French scientist, who is noted for his research in optics and mechanics. Foucault was born at Paris in 1819, and died there in 1868.

RED RIVER HOG

"I don't like rules," said Mr. Red River Hog, whose friends called him Reddy.

"I once heard, speaking of rules," said Mrs. Red River Hog, called Mrs. Reddy for short, "that a school was started for pigs somewhere.

"That is, many people, in various parts of the country had the idea that pigs could be taught to be clean, to take baths, to avoid mud—in short to be nice, clean pigs."

"Why 'in short'?" asked Reddy.

"They didn't have to reduce in size, did they?"

"No," grunted Mrs. Reddy smiling. "I only meant that as a way of ending my talk—of saying it all at once, of summing it up."

"Summing, summing," said Reddy, "that sounds like school. Sums, addition, subtraction and such things."

"Well," said Mrs. Reddy, "I don't think there ever was any real school for pigs.

"But some one, or several people, I don't know which, had this fine idea about pigs."

"There is no reason," said Reddy, "why pigs can't be as fine as any animals.

"They can be clean, too, I think—though of course they love mud.

"As far as that is concerned, children love to make mud pies and to go

in wading and yet we don't turn around and say:

"'Children are very dirty.'"

"Oh well," said Mrs. Reddy, "the habits of regular pigs don't bother us.

"We're different from any pigs in the world."

"We are, indeed," said Reddy.

"Yes," said Mrs. Reddy, "we came from West Africa.

"That is far, far away.

"It is interesting to come from afar, especially if one is a pig.

"It's so much better than having to say:

"'Yes, I came from the farmhouse a mile down the road. Yes, I used to reside in Farmer Campbell's pig pen.'

"We are so very different," said Reddy.

"In the first place we are the only pigs in the world who are beautiful.

"We have long, lovely ears—not at all like the ears of our cousins.

"Our hair is beautiful and of a handsome auburn shade.

"We try to say auburn for that is much more fashionable and superior to say than red."

"It's fine to be beautiful and yet to be a pig," said Mrs. Reddy.

"But the keeper says that one of the nicest things about us is that we have not been spoiled.

"Just because we are beautiful, we don't think we must be cross.

"We are very pleasant, too."

"Yes," said Reddy, "we are the exceptions to two pig rules—one that pigs are ugly and the other that beautiful creatures think they can be selfish and cross.

"And even if the latter isn't exactly a rule at least we prove our own point that beautiful creatures can be pleasant, too."

So, after this talk, they decided to send a zoolet to the Zoolet society which accepted verses by the different creatures of the zoo.

This was the zoolet:

Red River Hogs are we,
Pleasant as we can be,
Beautiful, too, with hair of red.
Happy and cheerful and always well fed!

Strengthfulness Prevented

A new boy had moved into the neighborhood whose reputation for fighting was well known.

At the supper table Jimmie was relating how ugly he was, to which his father replied: "Well, but what did you do?"

"Oh," replied Jimmy, "I'd have hit him if it hadn't been for his strengthfulness."

Dog Made a Difference

Billy had gone with his mother to call on a friend, with the promise from him that he would sit on a chair and be a good boy.

Upon departure from the friend's home his mother asked him why he had not done as he had promised. Billy said: "But mother, dear, when I made that promise I did not know the lady had a dog."

Freak Rock Sculpture Work of Dame Nature

On the Cornish coast of England, Dame Nature has excelled in the art of the sculptor in the number of faces she has carved in the rock by means of wind and wave and weather. Every visitor to Land's end is taken to a certain point of vantage where can be seen the rugged features of Doctor Johnson, but in this case a little imagination is required. Far better is the remarkable likeness of Queen Victoria on the north coast of Cornwall. At Redruthen steps, the Queen Elizabeth rock rises majestically out of the sands. Every motorist through the Lake district sees the lion and the lamb, on the summit of a mountain near Grasmere. The lion especially looks as well carved as one of the Landseer lions in Trafalgar square. Strangely enough, approaching from the other side, two or three miles beyond, another rock on the same mountain takes precisely the same form, and on coming closer this rock changes to what is called "The Lady at the Organ." This is a great rock in the shape of an organ, at which sits a woman with outstretched hands, as though producing "the sound of a great amen."

Exposure to Cold Not Harmful in Still Air

Professor Barcroft's heart beat and blood flow test on naked persons in the extreme cold of ten degrees below the freezing point suggests the question: What degree of cold can the unclad human body withstand? Perhaps the most surprising experiment in this direction was made during the international circumpolar expeditions in 1882-3. The officer in charge of the northern Siberian station, clad only in his nightshirt, left his tent for a stroll in the open air when the temperature was 72 degrees below the freezing point, and he was none the worse for it! This result was explained by the fact that during the promenade not a breath of air was stirring. Had there been a purga (the terrible blizzard of that region), with its dense, blinding, and suffocating cloud of ice needles, it would have meant instantaneous death.

Organ Built of Bamboo

Tuneful melodies of sweet, well-rounded tone still flow from the pipes of a bamboo organ built into the church at Las Pinas in the Philippines more than 110 years ago by the Augustinian fathers. This instrument is constructed wholly of bamboo cut from a jungle near the church. The builders treated the bamboo to make it impervious to the elements. The pipes were buried in sand for six months, for seasoning and hardening as a protection against both the atmosphere and white ants, which attack nearly all wooden articles in that climate. In 1863 and again in 1882 the organ was damaged, the first time by an earthquake and the second time by a typhoon which blew off the roof of the church. It was silent for 20 years until in 1917 Father Faniel, a Belgian missionary, had it repaired and since that time it has been in constant service.

History of Suez Canal

The Suez canal, 92 miles long, connecting the Red sea and the Mediterranean, was built by a stock company organized in 1854 by the French engineer, De Lesseps. Work was commenced in 1859 and November 16, 1869, the canal was opened in the presence of the emperor of Austria, the empress of the French and the khedive of Egypt. The cost of the undertaking was somewhat more than $100,000,000. The canal is a sea-level canal and its completion reduced the sea voyage from London to India more than 3,500 miles. In 1875 the British government purchased the khedive's interest in the canal for about $20,000,000, and now owns the controlling interest.—Kansas City Times.

Seal the Bargain

The young plumber had proposed to the girl that evening and had been accepted. Several hours later they parted and he went home.

At three o'clock in the morning a loud ringing of the front door bell of the girl's abode was heard. Her father, roused from slumber, went to a window and, sticking out his head, inquired who was there.

"It's John," said a voice from below; "I asked Agnes to marry me and she said she would, but I forgot to kiss her."

Weaving Is Ancient Trade

Although gardening is generally looked upon as the oldest trade in the world, weaving runs it very close.

In a case tried in England in 1821, the plaintiff claimed damages for the infringement of his canvas-weaving patent, but a witness for the defense asserted that the method had been known and practiced for over 2,000 years.

To prove this he produced some cloth from an Egyptian mummy, the thread of which was spun and twisted just as the plaintiff's was.

Where Flu Comes From

David was playing that one of the dolls was seriously ill. He was heard to remark to Nancy, "This doll has the 'flu' so bad, she caught it from the back bedroom."

"Oh," laughed mother, "I didn't know you could catch flu from a bedroom."

"Why, of course," answered David, "that's where the flue hole is."

"SOME WILD NOTIONS I HAVE KNOWN"

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

Everything! As if one name was just like another!

All that a man has and is, that distinguishes him from other men, is wrapped up in his name.

There is history, heredity, honor, power, privilege, in a name. Pronounce such names as Gordon, McDonald, O'Connell, Bruce, Washington, Knox, Frederick or Bach and let the very sound thereof conjure up for your vision the records of great valor and achievements.

Men have labored for a lifetime to give their sons a good name. The family name represents the accumulated labors, aspirations, ideals and hopes of generations.

Wars have been waged, voyages of adventure and danger undertaken, pain and death invited, exile welcomed, strategy of human ingenuity has been devised to rescue names and make them immortal in the conflict with oblivion. Pyramids, industrial institutions, scientific discoveries, machines, inventions, states, cities and mountains have been made to bear the names of men who sought to perpetuate their names in spite of their mortality.

Every man likes to be known by name. Banks, business houses, ticket offices and public places post conspicuously the names of those with whom you deal, for names indicate personality. No man likes to be known as "No. 387," or "The third desk to the right."

Even the humblest man appreciates being known by name. The Chicago and Great Western railroad posts small cards alongside the tables in their dining cars notifying the public that "The waiter serving this table is Mr. Randall Ray."

"Let no man despise thy youth," says the sage.

Neither let any man despise thy name—make it respected by making it unusually respectable.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

July 20, 1901

Miss Edith Chadwick and Miss Jennie Cannil left this afternoon for Little Falls for a short visit.

Dr. J. L. Camp has purchased the home of Joseph Slipp at 21, Bluff Ave. The consideration was about $3,000.

Game Warden Saunders and family returned today from Portage Lake where they have enjoyed a pleasant outing.

Attorney Leon E. Lum of Duluth went to Walker yesterday afternoon.

E. P. Mallory left last night for the twin cities to visit for a few days.

Walter Delemere left today for St. Paul where he will visit for a day or two.

The Germania Maennerchor will give a picnic tomorrow at Grossman's grove near the mill. All members and their friends are requested to be present.

A. P. Schoeberg was up before Judge Mantor yesterday and plead guilty to violating the bicycle path ordinance by letting cattle run over the path. The court fined him $5, the minimum.

E. T. Larbel who has been connected with Wise's cafe left today for his home in Glencoe. He has resigned his position with Landlord Wise.

J. C. Small arrived home this morning after a four weeks' trip to the Pan-American exposition and important points as far East as Montreal and reports having had a very pleasant journey.

F. A. Cooper, chief dispatcher for the Minnesota and International, left today for Minneapolis having been called on account of the serious illness of his daughter.

Patterns of progress

An American home—its bathtub, breakfast foods, furnace—set down in the heart of Europe would be unmistakably an American home. An American man, the cut of his coat, the tie of his tie, the comb of his hair—walking the streets of Europe is in all his obvious tastes an American.

Advertisements stamp American homes and owners of homes with a kind of national pattern. They create desire for the same kind of things; make particular people know and want the most advanced of things. Homes—what to put in homes. People—how to dress, nourish, entertain the people. Offices—how to equip and operate offices. They set America right about radios and talcums—tell businessmen, housewives, government officials how to brush their teeth!

We cut the pattern of our personal lives and surroundings from advertisements. We keep modern only with their intimate help. We go forward with them, as we would stand still without them. We form our tastes and discriminate values by using their truths. Advertisements offer us patterns of progress that mean quick steps to the fore.

Keep pace with progress by reading the advertisements every day

ON BUILDING A HOME

FLOURISHING diplomas, the annual crop of school graduates plunges out into the world. And what is the biggest thing to be done? It's looking for and getting a job. The best education in the world is no good, if it cannot be put to use for yourself, your family or the world at large.

Many of us, sophisticated and more or less disillusioned, josh the graduates a lot, much as seasoned veterans josh the new troops marching up for their baptism of shells.

The diploma army annually gets a wave of reinforcements. The newcomers are needed. It would be a sorry world without them. They bring pep, enthusiasm, ambition, determination and most valuable of all, youth.

We wish the young people a world of success in their endeavors. An authority has given these rules which may bring success:

Follow the line of work you like best, regardless of obstacles or the objections from others. Rising to success when one's heart is not in his work is like trying to swim with all kinds of handicaps.

Remember that an individual, like an army, can lose many battles and still win the war. Do not let temporary setbacks discourage you. They are sent to develop latent power and ability.

Plan far ahead. Youth can take chances which old age dare not take. Starting for next to nothing in wages when the future looks bright is better than a beginner's job that pays three times as much but has an uncertain future.

There are no short-cuts to success.

Don't be afraid of making mistakes. But remember this very essential good point. Keep indelible record of your failures and don't make the same mistake twice, or it may grow into a habit. We profit by our mistakes if we keep a card index on them and avoid repeating them in the future.

LOOKING FOR A JOB

IN building a house, whether it's a home for yourself or a garage for your car, allow a lot of leeway for the final expense bill. No carpenter, no architect, no lumberman, no next door neighbor is able to figure out things to the last cent.

Plans are changed, additions are made, hardware altered, etc., all spelling a change in the building budget. If you go about the job leisurely, with an open mind, and let the Lady of the House who rides on the back seat also have her chance for a word or two, why, changes will be frequent and building costs will hop up and down with the facility of a weight on one of those carnival cigar punching machines.

Still, it's quite an occupation to do the figuring before building, while building and after the building is erected and then if the financial mark has been over-shot, in meeting the bills which press for solution.

And if things press hard, thank goodness there is a local building and loan association and kind bankers to help you. It would be wiser, however, to first see them before you build, than in waiting for sage advice after you have indulged in a building spree.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

SOME months ago the Chicago Tribune had a contest and offered a large cash prize to the one offering a suitable name for its Sunday magazine. Well, the winner brought in the name of "Liberty" magazine.

But it's not a new cognomen, by any means. For some 21 years a magazine published by the Review and Herald Publishing Association, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C., appears to have issued an official organ designated "Liberty", mouthpiece of the Religious Liberty Association. In its platform of ten points, are these especially prominent ones:

"We believe that all religious legislation tends to unite church and state, is subversive of human rights, persecuting in character, and opposed to the best interests of both church and state.

"We believe, therefore, that it is not within the province of civil government to legislate on religious questions."

True, in this age, there is all kinds of liberty, but we fail to see where the Chicago Tribune found anything new in selecting "Liberty" as the name of its magazine.

COMPLETION OF PAVING CELEBRATION

THE coming completion of the paving from Belle Prairie to Brainerd is attracting the attention of neighboring towns. Brainerd well realizes the value of this concrete road, which means just as much as another railway coming to Brainerd.

Among the speakers at the celebration will be Governor Theodore Christianson and Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock, invitations having already been extended to them. Mayors from many cities will be extended invitations to be present, as well as many other state, county and city offifficials, cement and other manufacturers, professional and business men and all the car and buggy owners.

Over 11 miles of highway have been completed and the highway will now probably be finished by September.

THEY do things on a big scale in New York city. The city will soon receive its milk supply in tank cars, each tank holding 6,000 gallons. The tank is glass lined covered with cork and is built of steel plates which provides perfect refrigeration.

THE French seem to have an idea that the mere election of a new cabinet will settle the tobogganing tactics of the elusive French franc.

Values of Steel

Pig iron, worth $25 a ton, when made into piano wire, is worth $50,000 a ton; as hair springs, its value is $5,160,000 a ton, and as surgical instruments it is worth $2,500,000. This shows the way man's work increases value.

Use Wisdom in Reproof

A man takes contradiction and advice much more easily than people think, only he will not bear it when violently given, even though it be well founded.—Richter.

To Remove Burnt Marks

Salt moistened with vinegar will remove burnt marks from enameled saucepans and dishes. Don't forget that they should be soaked in cold water for a few hours first to loosen the stains.

The gyroscope was invented by Jean Bernard Leon Foucault, a distinguished French scientist, who is noted for his research in optics and mechanics. Foucault was born at Paris in 1819, and died there in 1868.

RED RIVER HOG

"I don't like rules," said Mr. Red River Hog, whose friends called him Reddy.

"I once heard, speaking of rules," said Mrs. Red River Hog, called Mrs. Reddy for short, "that a school was started for pigs somewhere.

"That is, many people, in various parts of the country had the idea that pigs could be taught to be clean, to take baths, to avoid mud—in short to be nice, clean pigs."

"Why 'in short'?" asked Reddy.

"They didn't have to reduce in size, did they?"

"No," grunted Mrs. Reddy smiling. "I only meant that as a way of ending my talk—of saying it all at once, of summing it up."

"Summing, summing," said Reddy, "that sounds like school. Sums, addition, subtraction and such things."

"Well," said Mrs. Reddy, "I don't think there ever was any real school for pigs.

"But some one, or several people, I don't know which, had this fine idea about pigs."

"There is no reason," said Reddy, "why pigs can't be as fine as any animals.

"They can be clean, too, I think—though of course they love mud.

"As far as that is concerned, children love to make mud pies and to go

in wading and yet we don't turn around and say:

"'Children are very dirty.'"

"Oh well," said Mrs. Reddy, "the habits of regular pigs don't bother us.

"We're different from any pigs in the world."

"We are, indeed," said Reddy.

"Yes," said Mrs. Reddy, "we came from West Africa.

"That is far, far away.

"It is interesting to come from afar, especially if one is a pig.

"It's so much better than having to say:

"'Yes, I came from the farmhouse a mile down the road. Yes, I used to reside in Farmer Campbell's pig pen.'

"We are so very different," said Reddy.

"In the first place we are the only pigs in the world who are beautiful.

"We have long, lovely ears—not at all like the ears of our cousins.

"Our hair is beautiful and of a handsome auburn shade.

"We try to say auburn for that is much more fashionable and superior to say than red."

"It's fine to be beautiful and yet to be a pig," said Mrs. Reddy.

"But the keeper says that one of the nicest things about us is that we have not been spoiled.

"Just because we are beautiful, we don't think we must be cross.

"We are very pleasant, too."

"Yes," said Reddy, "we are the exceptions to two pig rules—one that pigs are ugly and the other that beautiful creatures think they can be selfish and cross.

"And even if the latter isn't exactly a rule at least we prove our own point that beautiful creatures can be pleasant, too."

So, after this talk, they decided to send a zoolet to the Zoolet society which accepted verses by the different creatures of the zoo.

This was the zoolet:

Red River Hogs are we,
Pleasant as we can be,
Beautiful, too, with hair of red.
Happy and cheerful and always well fed!

Strengthfulness Prevented

A new boy had moved into the neighborhood whose reputation for fighting was well known.

At the supper table Jimmie was relating how ugly he was, to which his father replied: "Well, but what did you do?"

"Oh," replied Jimmy, "I'd have hit him if it hadn't been for his strengthfulness."

Dog Made a Difference

Billy had gone with his mother to call on a friend, with the promise from him that he would sit on a chair and be a good boy.

Upon departure from the friend's home his mother asked him why he had not done as he had promised. Billy said: "But mother, dear, when I made that promise I did not know the lady had a dog."

Freak Rock Sculpture Work of Dame Nature

On the Cornish coast of England, Dame Nature has excelled in the art of the sculptor in the number of faces she has carved in the rock by means of wind and wave and weather. Every visitor to Land's end is taken to a certain point of vantage where can be seen the rugged features of Doctor Johnson, but in this case a little imagination is required. Far better is the remarkable likeness of Queen Victoria on the north coast of Cornwall. At Redruthen steps, the Queen Elizabeth rock rises majestically out of the sands. Every motorist through the Lake district sees the lion and the lamb, on the summit of a mountain near Grasmere. The lion especially looks as well carved as one of the Landseer lions in Trafalgar square. Strangely enough, approaching from the other side, two or three miles beyond, another rock on the same mountain takes precisely the same form, and on coming closer this rock changes to what is called "The Lady at the Organ." This is a great rock in the shape of an organ, at which sits a woman with outstretched hands, as though producing "the sound of a great amen."

Exposure to Cold Not Harmful in Still Air

Professor Barcroft's heart beat and blood flow test on naked persons in the extreme cold of ten degrees below the freezing point suggests the question: What degree of cold can the unclad human body withstand? Perhaps the most surprising experiment in this direction was made during the international circumpolar expeditions in 1882-3. The officer in charge of the northern Siberian station, clad only in his nightshirt, left his tent for a stroll in the open air when the temperature was 72 degrees below the freezing point, and he was none the worse for it! This result was explained by the fact that during the promenade not a breath of air was stirring. Had there been a purga (the terrible blizzard of that region), with its dense, blinding, and suffocating cloud of ice needles, it would have meant instantaneous death.

Organ Built of Bamboo

Tuneful melodies of sweet, well-rounded tone still flow from the pipes of a bamboo organ built into the church at Las Pinas in the Philippines more than 110 years ago by the Augustinian fathers. This instrument is constructed wholly of bamboo cut from a jungle near the church. The builders treated the bamboo to make it impervious to the elements. The pipes were buried in sand for six months for seasoning and hardening as a protection against both the atmosphere and white ants, which attack nearly all wooden articles in that climate. In 1863 and again in 1882 the organ was damaged, the first time by an earthquake and the second time by a typhoon which blew off the roof of the church. It was silent for 20 years until in 1917 Father Faniel, a Belgian missionary, had it repaired and since that time it has been in constant service.

Party Dress of Yarn, Embroidered in Net

Here is a winsome party dress made of yarn, embroidered in net. The yarn is spun of the fur of white Angora rabbits and is very soft, fluffy and furry. The colors are lovely pastel shades. The slip is of pink satin.

Bouffant Frocks Are in Fashion Picture

There is no question as to the vogue of bouffant frocks. Early in the season when they made their initial appearance, there was a certain amount of skepticism as to their success but the swiftness with which these charming and youthful fashions was taken up left little doubt as to their importance.

Surprisingly enough, it is the black taffeta models that are the outstanding successes of early summer models. They have rivals in frocks made of white taffeta combined with white tulle or black lace and in the dresses whose colors reflect the distinct popularity of all shades of red but unquestionably the dinner or dance frock of black taffeta is the smartest frock of the moment.

Lest they seem a bit too somber for youthful wearers many designers introduce at bit of brilliant color. Frequently this appears in the facing of the skirt and a scarf collar outlining the rounded or deep V decolletage, but quite as often the note of contrast is struck by a huge straggly flower posed at the waistline or on the skirt.

Many a black taffeta, with a bouffant skirt, exploits the new flounced effect and uneven hemline. At the waist is a huge flower of a pale lemon color.

Designed for one of society's best known brides, who elected to have her attendants dressed in frocks of different pastel shades, this bouffant model achieved a huge success. Two of the bridesmaids wore gowns in the rose and blue colorings, two appeared in orchid and peach, while the last two wore dresses of daffodil yellow combined with delicate green.

Accessories That Will Appeal to All Women

For the traveler nothing could be more welcome than one of the new oblong bags of calf in any one of the new colors. The most expensive are moire lined, fitted with swinging purse and passport compartment. A two-tone pouch bag with long flat and tailored lines is of tan and brown leather. It is mounted on a leather frame, has a leather strap and is fitted with passport compartment, purse and mirror and is lined with tan moire. This bag may be carried with any of the colors because of its well blended color combination.

Cameo sets, consisting of necklace, bracelet, brooch and earrings, are copied from the period styles. The necklace, which usually has a large cameo in front, is made up of fancy motifs of antique gold, set with small colored stones and pearl. Smaller cameos are used in the bracelets and earrings. The brooches have fancy settings or frames studded with colored stones and pearls. Jade sets are also new, with enameled colored flowers in place of the stones and pearls. Flat collarettes of Italian filigree motifs in fancy shapes and squares are worn with the low-necked dresses.

Cloisonne enameled silver vanity boxes in small round shapes have black enameled covers that form a lovely contrast with the rest of the box and emphasize the design of field flowers in bright colors.

Earrings of onyx are now fashionable and have been modernized so that they may be worn with the new costumes. When mosaic is introduced in the center the gold work in the pendant is little in evidence. The solid onyx earrings are beautifully encrusted with gold and have elaborate work at the fastening.

Little Visits

Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch by W. H. Triplett, travelling editor for this paper and The Farmer of St. Paul.

If the farmers of the community have not already gotten out the binder it would be a good idea to do so soon, for now is the time to look over the canvases, examine for broken slats and etc. It will be only a few days until the binder will be needed as we have noticed that in the last few days the fields have changed their complexion from green to a golden yellow.

August Follstrom's daughter, Mrs. Olaf Ness of Brainerd is visiting the Follstrom family this week. Mr. Follstrom has farmed 80 acres for 26 years, making dairying his main enterprise.

Forty-five years ago Mr. Lusso, who died a few years ago, homesteaded a 120 acre place on the shores of Grave Lake. Mrs. Lusso sold the farm this spring to the Calvary company, who plan on selling the place in lots for lake cottages. Mrs. Lusso's son John is renting the home place and the Tynkkynen farm, besides farming 40 acres of their own. He and Mrs.Lusso plan on moving this fall on the Tynkkynen place.

J. C. Pointon works at the carpenter trade besides farming 80 acres of his own and renting 20 acres from his mother. Mrs. Pointon and Mrs. Cook and children are leaving next Thursday on an automobile tour to International Falls.

Mrs. T. C. Pointon was one of the first settlers in Nokay Lake township, coming to this country over 40 years ago. She remarked that she believed the good roads helped to develop the community more than any other one thing. The Pointons formerly owned the place now owned by F. L. Barber.

Carl Lierboe is manager of the Twin Oak Farms which is owned by F. L. Barber. The farm resembles a small city as there is every building from a dog-house to an animal hospital. One thing that I noticed of importance, was a manure pit, which prevents the loss of much of the important fertilizer constituents, such as nitrogen. Where manure is piled out as found on the average farm the losses will run much higher, easily amounting to 50 per cent of the organic matter, 60 per cent of the ammonia, 40 per cent of the phosphoric acid, and 65 per cent of the potash. This means a loss of at least one-half of the nutrient constituents. Where a manure pit is used as on this farm, as mentioned before, the above losses decreased materially. We often see manure piled up in fields during the winter and which is usually spread in the spring of the year. This practice is poor economy as it requires excessive labor and the soluble portions of the pile escape into the soil immediately after it is piled. Thus a poor distribution of the essential elements of the manure results, and consequently a poorer crop yield. They are milking 17 cows, chiefly of the Guernsey breed and using a purebred sire at the head of the herd. Thirty acres of alfalfa make up the major part of the hay crop; although the first cutting was thin, the second crop is coming fine. Mr. Lierboe is going to raise purebred Hampshire pigs, having at present 40 little pigs. There is a complete set of poultry buildings, including an incubator house, brooder, and the main poultry house. With such equipment one can be very successful in the poultry enterprise. Mrs. Lierboe's sister, Dorothy Lukenbach from Cedar Rapids, Ia., is visiting the family this summer. Donald Mandery, the hired man, was busy fixing up old lizzie so as to call on "Sweet O'Mine."

We had an enjoyable visit with Mrs. F. L. Barber, who has one of the nicest cottages on the shore of Nokay Lake that one can ask for. Both running water and electric lights are installed in the cottage which helps to make it comfortable and cozy. The Barber family have been coming to their cottage and spending the summer, for several years, spending their winters in Chicago. Mr. Barber went to Chicago on business Sunday night, he being connected with Standard Car Co.

One can almost see the corn grow these last few days, and we especially noticed it in A. Tollefson's field as it is over one's head and is tasseling out. He has 51 acres that border Lake Pointon which lake was named for T. C. Pointon. Mr. Tollefson is breeding toward a purebred Guernsey herd, having three head of purebred and a number of high grade heifers. The cows will have good alfalfa hay to eat this winter as he has 10 acres of it that is hard to beat. Sunday evening ended the two-week's session of the Summer Vacation Bible School held by David Anderson, and A. Selness of Minneapolis. The meetings were held at the Grave Lake school and were much enjoyed both by the pupils and visitors. A program of vocal and instrumental music marked the closing evening.

S. E. Spohn works in the mines at Crosby, his two sisters, Laura and Malinda, taking charge of the place during his absence, and Mr. Isles doing the farm work.

Joe Mandery has an up-to-date confectionery and grocery store on the north shore of Nokay Lake, which is well located for the convenience of tourists.

Z. Ramsdell is running a resort on Nokay Lake. He has four rooms and several boats that can be rented at any time at a reasonable price. Mr. Ramsdell has lived here for the last three years and reports business good.

We were almost ready to leave disappointed when we called at Fred Hansons, but he drove in as we were leaving. He has farmed 40 acres for a number of years and rents 120 acres for hayland and pasture. Mr. Hanson has a good set of buildings on the place, enabling him to take good care of his livestock. He is milking 11 cows, chiefly of the Ayrshire breed. He believes in having a cow that will give a good quality of milk besides a good quality of beef. Three acres of alfalfa were seeded this spring and one acre a year ago. Mrs. Hanson has been quilting the last few days, making ready for the cold winter nights.

Spaghetti Now an American Dish

JAPAN, China, and Italy quarrel for the honor of first discovering spaghetti. Through the Dark Ages it was developed as a food, but by the fourteenth century, Italy had it all to herself and for a hundred years kept the secrets of its manufacture. Today, however, much of the spaghetti sold, even in Italy, comes from the United States.

The art of the Italian cooks has been utilized with fine results by American canners, who turn out a splendid dish of spaghetti packed with tomatoes and cheese.

A delicious spaghetti dish that serves as a meat substitute is made with a can of spaghetti and tomato and four hard-boiled eggs. Heat the spaghetti and tomato, adding flour and water to thicken the sauce. Put into a thickly buttered dish in layers, alternating with slices of hard-boiled egg until the dish is full. Have the spaghetti on top. Pour white sauce over it and a little grated cheese, dot with butter and bake for ten minutes.

Napoli Spaghetti

Four slices bacon, 1 sliced onion, ½ can tomatoes, ½ can Italian tomato paste, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon mace, a few grains cayenne, bit of bay leaf, one can spaghetti. Cut bacon in small pieces and try out, add remaining ingredients except spaghetti, bring gradually to the boiling point and let simmer until it thickens. Pour over spaghetti and let stand over the heat ten minutes. Serve very hot.

Sills in Another 'He-Man' Character

"Milton Sills' best picture since 'The Sea Hawk,'" is the way those who have seen "Puppets," his latest First National starring vehicle, are describing this photoplay, which comes to the Lyceum theatre this Thursday and Friday. Sills in the role of the Italian proprietor of a little puppet theatre in New York's lower East Side, gives one of the best screen performances of his career.

Constance Talmadge at Lyceum

Constance Talmadge, now appearing in "Her Night of Romance" at the Lyceum theatre tonight, was asked by an inquisitive newspaper reporter recently what she would do if she had only one more year to live.

Her reply, typical of this screen comedienne, was:

"My goodness, what a question to ask one who loves to live. But I'd say good-bye to studio life and give away all my possessions except enough money to hire an aviator.

His Master's Voice

An East side man was endeavoring to give a friend a thrill. He turned a corner at high speed, and the automobile turned over, all wheels spinning. The incident occurred in front of the driver's house, and he was just crawling out as his wife appeared. "Why, John!" she cried. "What are you doing under there? Come out this minute!"—Detroit News.

"Whipping the Cat"

In colonial days an apprentice who had completed his term of service in learning the shoemaking trade usually started out in business in a manner that was known as "whipping the cat," which meant journeying from town to town, living with a family while making a year's supply of shoes for each member of the family and then leaving to fill other engagements previously made.

Party Dress of Yarn, Embroidered in Net

Here is a winsome party dress made of yarn, embroidered in net. The yarn is spun of the fur of white Angora rabbits and is very soft, fluffy and furry. The colors are lovely pastel shades. The slip is of pink satin.

Bouffant Frocks Are in Fashion Picture

There is no question as to the vogue of bouffant frocks. Early in the season when they made their initial appearance, there was a certain amount of skepticism as to their success but the swiftness with which these charming and youthful fashions was taken up left little doubt as to their importance.

Surprisingly enough, it is the black taffeta models that are the outstanding successes of early summer models. They have rivals in frocks made of white taffeta combined with white tulle or black lace and in the dresses whose colors reflect the distinct popularity of all shades of red but unquestionably the dinner or dance frock of black taffeta is the smartest frock of the moment.

Lest they seem a bit too somber for youthful wearers many designers introduce at bit of brilliant color. Frequently this appears in the facing of the skirt and a scarf collar outlining the rounded or deep V decolletage, but quite as often the note of contrast is struck by a huge straggly flower posed at the waistline or on the skirt.

Many a black taffeta, with a bouffant skirt, exploits the new flounced effect and uneven hemline. At the waist is a huge flower of a pale lemon color.

Designed for one of society's best known brides, who elected to have her attendants dressed in frocks of different pastel shades, this bouffant model achieved a huge success. Two of the bridesmaids wore gowns in the rose and blue colorings, two appeared in orchid and peach, while the last two wore dresses of daffodil yellow combined with delicate green.

Accessories That Will Appeal to All Women

For the traveler nothing could be more welcome than one of the new oblong bags of calf in any one of the new colors. The most expensive are moire lined, fitted with swinging purse and passport compartment. A two-tone pouch bag with long flat and tailored lines is of tan and brown leather. It is mounted on a leather frame, has a leather strap and is fitted with passport compartment, purse and mirror and is lined with tan moire. This bag may be carried with any of the colors because of its well blended color combination.

Cameo sets, consisting of necklace, bracelet, brooch and earrings, are copied from the period styles. The necklace, which usually has a large cameo in front, is made up of fancy motifs of antique gold, set with small colored stones and pearl. Smaller cameos are used in the bracelets and earrings. The brooches have fancy settings or frames studded with colored stones and pearls. Jade sets are also new, with enameled colored flowers in place of the stones and pearls. Flat collarettes of Italian filigree motifs in fancy shapes and squares are worn with the low-necked dresses.

Cloisonne enameled silver vanity boxes in small round shapes have black enameled covers that form a lovely contrast with the rest of the box and emphasize the design of field flowers in bright colors.

Earrings of onyx are now fashionable and have been modernized so that they may be worn with the new costumes. When mosaic is introduced in the center the gold work in the pendant is little in evidence. The solid onyx earrings are beautifully encrusted with gold and have elaborate work at the fastening.

Little Visits

Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch by W. H. Triplett, travelling editor for this paper and The Farmer of St. Paul.

If the farmers of the community have not already gotten out the binder it would be a good idea to do so soon, for now is the time to look over the canvases, examine for broken slats and etc. It will be only a few days until the binder will be needed as we have noticed that in the last few days the fields have changed their complexion from green to a golden yellow.

August Follstrom's daughter, Mrs. Olaf Ness of Brainerd is visiting the Follstrom family this week. Mr. Follstrom has farmed 80 acres for 26 years, making dairying his main enterprise.

Forty-five years ago Mr. Lusso, who died a few years ago, homesteaded a 120 acre place on the shores of Grave Lake. Mrs. Lusso sold the farm this spring to the Calvary company, who plan on selling the place in lots for lake cottages. Mrs. Lusso's son John is renting the home place and the Tynkkynen farm, besides farming 40 acres of their own. He and Mrs.Lusso plan on moving this fall on the Tynkkynen place.

J. C. Pointon works at the carpenter trade besides farming 80 acres of his own and renting 20 acres from his mother. Mrs. Pointon and Mrs. Cook and children are leaving next Thursday on an automobile tour to International Falls.

Mrs. T. C. Pointon was one of the first settlers in Nokay Lake township, coming to this country over 40 years ago. She remarked that she believed the good roads helped to develop the community more than any other one thing. The Pointons formerly owned the place now owned by F. L. Barber.

Carl Lierboe is manager of the Twin Oak Farms which is owned by F. L. Barber. The farm resembles a small city as there is every building from a dog-house to an animal hospital. One thing that I noticed of importance, was a manure pit, which prevents the loss of much of the important fertilizer constituents, such as nitrogen. Where manure is piled out as found on the average farm the losses will run much higher, easily amounting to 50 per cent of the organic matter, 60 per cent of the ammonia, 40 per cent of the phosphoric acid, and 65 per cent of the potash. This means a loss of at least one-half of the nutrient constituents. Where a manure pit is used as on this farm, as mentioned before, the above losses decreased materially We often see manure piled up in fields during the winter and which is usually spread in the spring of the year. This practice is poor economy as it requires excessive labor and the soluble portions of the pile escape into the soil immediately after it is piled. Thus a poor distribution of the essential elements of the manure results, and consequently a poorer crop yield. They are milking 17 cows, chiefly of the Guernsey breed and using a purebred sire at the head of the herd. Thirty acres of alfalfa make up the major part of the hay crop; although the first cutting was thin, the second crop is coming fine. Mr. Lierboe is going to raise purebred Hampshire pigs, having at present 40 little pigs. There is a complete set of poultry buildings, including an incubator house, brooder, and the main poultry house. With such equipment one can be very successful in the poultry enterprise. LIONS DEFEAT ROTARIANS, 6 TO 4 SCORE

GAME WAS NO JOKE TO THE 45 MEN IN GAME

WAS SERIOUS, AS THEY AWOKE TODAY WITH SPAVINED LIMBS

CHAMPIONSHIP OF BRAINERD NOW RESTS WITH THE LIONS

That knock-kneed, rip roaring, hard hitting outfit of Lions bellowed forth their most exultant roar of contentment to the setting sun last evening when they nosed out the rotten, though not so punk, whirlwind, tornado spinning Rotarians in one of the greatest games of the baseball universe at municipal ball park to the tune of 6 to 4 for the championship of Brainerd, which everyone knows is the only place in the world where Lions and Rotarians are real he men baseball players. It was, therefore, more or less a game to decide the championship of the world between the Lions and the Rotarians.

It might have been a joke to the 600 or more fathers, mothers, wives, brothers, sisters, children and friends of the players, but it was a serious matter to the 45 players in the game. It was more of a serious matter to the players this morning for they awoke with a feeling that they were not altogether themselves. Little pains aggravated their systems in different places but they took it all with a smile, knowing that their baseball days were over for another year at least.

Yippie, oh, boy, what fun! All the words meaning fun, enjoyment, that could be dug up by old man Webster could not explain the enjoyment created by the burlesque baseball game yesterday afternoon at municipal ball park. It was a game that will long be remembered by the fans and the players themselves. But forgetting the funny side of it, the game was not so bad after all for the majority of the players on both teams had at one time played stellar ball somewhere in this old universe. Some hadn't played ball for 20 years and although they displayed a brand that was not in use at the present time, they nevertheless demonstrated that they had been capable of pounding out that old pill and snagging the apple out of mid-air with one hand.

"Ty" Cobb Shines

Take Wilbur C. Cobb, for instance, who went by the name of "Ty" Cobb last evening. "Ty" hasn't indulged in a real game of baseball for many a long year but he played a game behind the plate for the Rotarians that would cause green to appear in the eyes of many would-be catchers of the present age who are holding down positions behind the platter. Then there was J. P. Anderson, who resurrected a pair of N. P. railroad carnival black "pants," with a prominent red stripe down the side, from the attic, that might now set the style for dapper, young collegians, was put in as a pinch hitter for the Rotarians in the last frame to bring about the tieing score, knew baseball enough to wait it out and make first on four balls. He showed headwork in stealng second but the last man was struck out just as he emerged from a cloud of dust when he slid safely to third.

It was all for the love of the game that these old timers agreed to come out and show their stuff to the fans. The receipts will go towards the betterment of the municipal ball park in order to give the players of Brainerd better facility to develop their art.

Shortly after 5 o'clock both teams congregated on the greens of the Y. M. C. A. building. There the Brainerd Ladies band and the Brainerd Boys band were on hand to start off the gala parade to the grounds.

Bill Turcotte was given the job of drum major, and after a few instructions as to how to wield the baton which was a baseball bat, he announced that everything was in readiness to start off.

The Gallant Parade

The Brainerd Ladies band started off with the players of the Rotary club following in even step. The Brainerd Boys band came next and the Lions team wound up the procession.

It was a parade more than a city block long. It wound south on Sixth street and turned on Laurel street, to follow the direction to the park.

For the first five minutes at the park everything was in a grand flurry of excitement and anticipation for the game to start. The peanut venders, pop peddlers, popcorn crew, bellowed forth their wares to the grandstand while both bands, first one, then the other, played their snappiest music.

Mayor Little Is Umpire

It was an exciting moment when Official Announcer A. C. Ebert gave the information the fans wanted. The game was going to start. Mayor Frank Little was the umpire who called the balls and strikes, while Police Chief Tommy Templeton was base umpire to see that no one stole the initial sack.

Long was the first man up and he hit the sphere for a safe hit, making the initial hassock. It was not long before the official yanker, "Doc" Hoorn, with a big hook, started in to yank the players as ordered by the different managers. Carl Wright and John Holvick were the stretcher bearers ordered out with every yanking. Burnett of the Lions, who started off on second base, was the first to be yanked. Bill Turcotte opened up on the mound for the Rotarians but he retired to first base in favor of Dillan.

The Rotarians came up from their end of the fourth inning with the score 4 to 1 in their favor but the Lions came back in their half and made the score 5 to 4 in their favor. It was a disastrous inning for the Rotarians. Wijh victory in sight, it was a tragic ending to the inning. The fifth inning saw one player cross the plate for the Lions while the Rotarians tried ever so hard but in vain to bring about the tieing run.

The two Butler brothers, Harry and Ernest, played opposite each other, Ernest on second base for the Rotarians and Harry as utility man for the Lions.

Jimmy Alderman and R. L. Geist were both put in as heavers for the Lions, but Jack Bollens was put in for keeps to bring about a victory. Long, the catcher for the Lions, held up his end in grand style.

Substitution of players of the Lions resulted at one time of Bollens believed batting out of his turn in a critical part of the game.

Harry Fullerton was out in left field for the Lions for a while, but he felt the hook. Earl Rhodes occupied the first base for the Lions for a brief spell and he also was given a ride on the stretcher.

Dr. R. A. Hallquist forgot to slide at second and was tagged out. Walter Murphy displayed great form on first base and field when there were no balls in his territory, but he was finally yanked and given a trip by the hot cross men to warm the bench.

Tex Rickard Keeps Boxing World on Edge

Chicago — Tex Rickard kept the boxing world on edge again today once more promising that before night he would be ready to announce a site and a date for the Dempsey-Tunney match he proposes to promote. Chicago fight fans were encouraged in their hope that the championship would be decided here when the New York boxing commission once more refused to allow a Dempsey-Tunney match until the champion meets Harry Wills, the Negro contender.

To Decide on Announcer

New York—The New York boxing commission is going to say who will be the announcer when prize fight decisions are broadcast. It decided to allow none but men the commission recognizes as experts to broadcast from arenas.

Watching the Scoreboard

Morrell, pitching for the Senators, had a bad sixth inning, allowing Cleveland six hits. The Indians romped off with a victory 9 to 2.

The Pirates, although outhit by the Braves, took another game yesterday, 8 to 5. Kremer was nicked for 13 hits while the Pirates got but nine hits from Benton and Wertz.

The White Sox had a picnic with the Red Sox yesterday and finished the game victors by a 13 to 2 score.

Wild pitching and loose fielding on the part of the Reds helped the Chicago team.

Despite a home run by Babe Ruth the Browns won 7 to 6 from the Yankees, Beal's work on the mound was inconsistent and he was yanked in the seventh.

Three Giant pitchers took the showers early while the Cubs were lacing the New Yorkers properly. The score was 16 to 2. The second and third innings spelled the Giant defeat.

Athletic pennant hopes were given a severe jolt yesterday. The A's were on the short end of two games with the Tigers 5-0 and 8-3. Philadelphia used six pitchers in the two contests.

An error by Jacobson was responsible for the defeat of the Robins by the Cincinnati Reds 5 to 4. Donohue made the winning run when Jacobson muffed.

Milwaukee increased its lead in the American Association pennant race to 2 1-2 games Tuesday by taking the opener with Toledo 5 to 2, while Louisville was losing its eighth straight game to St. Paul. Sanders on the hill for the Brewers was hit freely but he was given good support by his mates.

Kolp, pitching for St. Paul, was effective and the Saints had little trouble defeating the Louisville Colonels 9 to 3. Five errors behind Koop and Holley, Louisville pitchers, spelled victory for St. Paul.

Indianapolis won the first game from Minneapolis, 4 to 3.

Kansas City took two games from the tail end Columbus teams 12 to 6 and 11 to 2.

BUSH DELIVERS— HOLDS 'EM HITLESS

Pittsburgh, July 21. — Although outhit, Pittsburgh by hitting at opportune times, took the final game from Boston yesterday, 8 to 5, and made it three out of four for the series. The Pirates were allowed nine hits by Benton and Wertz, while Kremer was nicked for 12. Kremer weakened in the latter part of the game and was relieved by Joe Bush, who held the visitors hitless in the ninth. Eddie Moore was turned over to Boston by waiver yesterday and will play third in the Boston-Cincinnati game today.

MEDAL HONORS IN FIRST OF THE QUALIFYING ROUND

31 QUALIFIERS IN THE WESTERN GOLF TOURNEY AT WHITE BEAR YACHT CLUB

7 OF THE 8 PACIFIC COAST STARS WERE AMONG THOSE LEFT IN THE GAME

White Bear Yacht Club, White Bear, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—Thirty-one qualifiers in the Western Amateur Golf tournament started play in the championship flight today over a course that was wringing wet after an all-night rain.

Harrison "Jimmy" Johnston, of St. Paul, medalist in the qualifying round, was matched with Robert McDougal of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Johnston's brilliant play which gave him a 141 in the first 36 holes, three under par, was certain to attract a large gallery. Johnston and McDougal each needed 73's for the 18 holes yesterday.

Keefe Carter, of Oklahoma City, the defending champion, wsa to meet H. A. Fleagar, of Seattle, in the first round. Carter, as champion, did not play in the qualifying round. Fleagar bettered his game yesterday with a 74 and had a 151 for the 36 holes.

Johnston's sensational playing in the first 18 holes of the qualifying round gave him the medal honors. He had 68 the first day. But his 73 yesterday also was a feat and gave him 141, four strokes out in front.

Dinsmore Shute, of Huntington, W. Va., was second low qualifier. He brought in a 70, two under par, late in the day for a 36 hole total of 145. Shute was going good on yesterday's first nine and after being one over fours for the first five holes, shot four birdies in a row for a 33.

Jack Ward, of Kansas City; Jack Westland, of Seattle, and Eldridge Robinson of Chicago, and Douglas Casey of Chicago, were next among the qualifiers. Ward had 146 for the 36 holes, and Westland, Robinson and Casey 147 each.

Johnson started out to equal his 68 of the day before and sailed along nicely until he reached the turn. But coming in, he got into difficulty with his putter.

It was necessary to play off a tie in which five players were tied at 156. Robert McKee, Des Moines, and A. L. Miller, Chicago, won out.

Seven of the eight Pacfic coast stars were among those left in the game. Four were close to the top with cards of better than 150—Jack Westland of Seattle, Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Bon Stein, of Seattle and Frank Dolp of Portland.

Charles "Chick" Evans of Chicago came back to form after taking 78 on his first 18 holes and his card yesterday was 71. He scored a 33 on his last nine holes.

Pairings today and qualifying scores follow:

Keefe Carter, Oklahoma City, champion, and H. A. Fleagar, Seattle, 151.

B. E. Stein, Seattle, 149, and L. B. Maytag, Des Moines, 153.

Eldridge Robinson, Chicago, 147, and Arthur Tverra, Minneapolis, 152.

Charles Evans, Jr., Chicago, 149, and Anthony Haynes, Rockford, Ill., 155.

Douglas Casey, Chicago, 147, and Wlliam Medart, St. Louis, 153.

J. M. Pollard, Omaha, 150, and A. L. Miller, Chicago, 156.

Rudy Knepper, Chicago, 149, and Russell Martin, Chicago, 155.

Dinsmore Shute, Huntington, W. Va., 145, and Eddie Held, St. Louis, 152.

Harrison Johnston, St. Paul, 141, and Robert McDougal, Kalamazoo, 151.

Frank Dolp, Portland, 149, and Harry Legg, Minneapolis, 154.

Jack Westland, Seattle, 147, and Charles Hunter, Tacoma, 153.

Billy Sixty, Milwaukee, 150, and R. S. Juran, Minneapolis, 155.

Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 148, and James Manion, St. Louis, 153.

John McKinley, Chicago, 151, and Kenneth Hisert, Chicago, 156.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, 148, and Lester Bolstad, Minneapolis, 155.

James C. Ward, Kansas City, 146, and Jimmie Wall, Spokane, 152.

Hagen Wins Eastern Golf Play

Delaware Water Gap, Pa.—Walter Hagen won the eastern professional golf championship yesterday turning in a total score of 246 for 36 holes. He was nine strokes ahead of Johnny Farrell who was 5 ahead of Bill Mehlhorn, the third place man.

Hagen's score was within one stroke of the record for low medal play made by Emmett French in 1922 in the Ohio State tournament. His score yesterday was 74 in the morning round and 69 in the afternoon.

"I should say so" they say to these 2 trouser suits.

When we wait on a customer for a 2-trouser Kirschbaum suit and happen to ask, "Now, don't you think that a beautiful model?" his reply is, "I should say so."

And when we ask, "do you think the Value at $35 can be beaten anywhere in this broad land?" the question is answered, "I should say not!"

No matter how we say it here—these 2 trouser suit models will make you say "so" to the style and "no" to extravagance.

LIONS DEFEAT ROTARIANS, 6 TO 4 SCORE

GAME WAS NO JOKE TO THE 45 MEN IN GAME

WAS SERIOUS, AS THEY AWOKE TODAY WITH SPAVINED LIMBS

CHAMPIONSHIP OF BRAINERD NOW RESTS WITH THE LIONS

That knock-kneed, rip roaring, hard hitting outfit of Lions bellowed forth their most exultant roar of contentment to the setting sun last evening when they nosed out the rotten, though not so punk, whirlwind, tornado spinning Rotarians in one of the greatest games of the baseball universe at municipal ball park to the tune of 6 to 4 for the championship of Brainerd, which everyone knows is the only place in the world where Lions and Rotarians are real he men baseball players. It was, therefore, more or less a game to decide the championship of the world between the Lions and the Rotarians.

It might have been a joke to the 600 or more fathers, mothers, wives, brothers, sisters, children and friends of the players, but it was a serious matter to the 45 players in the game. It was more of a serious matter to the players this morning for they awoke with a feeling that they were not altogether themselves. Little pains aggravated their systems in different places but they took it all with a smile, knowing that their baseball days were over for another year at least.

Yippie, oh, boy, what fun! All the words meaning fun, enjoyment, that could be dug up by old man Webster could not explain the enjoyment created by the burlesque baseball game yesterday afternoon at municipal ball park. It was a game that will long be remembered by the fans and the players themselves. But forgetting the funny side of it, the game was not so bad after all for the majority of the players on both teams had at one time played stellar ball somewhere in this old universe. Some hadn't played ball for 20 years and although they displayed a brand that was not in use at the present time, they nevertheless demonstrated that they had been capable of pounding out that old pill and snagging the apple out of mid-air with one hand.

"Ty" Cobb Shines

Take Wilbur C. Cobb, for instance, who went by the name of "Ty" Cobb last evening. "Ty" hasn't indulged in a real game of baseball for many a long year but he played a game behind the plate for the Rotarians that would cause green to appear in the eyes of many would-be catchers of the present age who are holding down positions behind the platter. Then there was J. P. Anderson, who resurrected a pair of N. P. railroad carnival black "pants," with a prominent red stripe down the side, from the attic, that might now set the style for dapper, young collegians, was put in as a pinch hitter for the Rotarians in the last frame to bring about the tieing score, knew baseball enough to wait it out and make first on four balls. He showed headwork in stealng second but the last man was struck out just as he emerged from a cloud of dust when he slid safely to third.

It was all for the love of the game that these old timers agreed to come out and show their stuff to the fans. The receipts will go towards the betterment of the municipal ball park in order to give the players of Brainerd better facility to develop their art.

Shortly after 5 o'clock both teams congregated on the greens of the Y. M. C. A. building. There the Brainerd Ladies band and the Brainerd Boys band were on hand to start off the gala parade to the grounds.

Bill Turcotte was given the job of drum major, and after a few instructions as to how to wield the baton which was a baseball bat, he announced that everything was in readiness to start off.

The Gallant Parade

The Brainerd Ladies band started off with the players of the Rotary club following in even step. The Brainerd Boys band came next and the Lions team wound up the procession.

It was a parade more than a city block long. It wound south on Sixth street and turned on Laurel street, to follow the direction to the park.

For the first five minutes at the park everything was in a grand flurry of excitement and anticipation for the game to start. The peanut venders, pop peddlers, popcorn crew, bellowed forth their wares to the grandstand while both bands, first one, then the other, played their snappiest music.

Mayor Little Is Umpire

It was an exciting moment when Official Announcer A. C. Ebert gave the information the fans wanted. The game was going to start. Mayor Frank Little was the umpire who called the balls and strikes, while Police Chief Tommy Templeton was base umpire to see that no one stole the initial sack.

Long was the first man up and he hit the sphere for a safe hit, making the initial hassock. It was not long before the official yanker, "Doc" Hoorn, with a big hook, started in to yank the players as ordered by the different managers. Carl Wright and John Holvick were the stretcher bearers ordered out with every yanking. Burnett of the Lions, who started off on second base, was the first to be yanked. Bill Turcotte opened up on the mound for the Rotarians but he retired to first base in favor of Dillan.

The Rotarians came up from their end of the fourth inning with the score 4 to 1 in their favor but the Lions came back in their half and made the score 5 to 4 in their favor. It was a disastrous inning for the Rotarians. With victory in sight, it was a tragic ending to the inning. The fifth inning saw one player cross the plate for the Lions while the Rotarians tried ever so hard but in vain to bring about the tieing run.

The two Butler brothers, Harry and Ernest, played opposite each other, Ernest on second base for the Rotarians and Harry as utility man for the Lions.

Jimmy Alderman and R. L. Geist were both put in as heavers for the Lions, but Jack Bollens was put in for keeps to bring about a victory. Long, the catcher for the Lions, held up his end in grand style.

Substitution of players of the Lions resulted at one time of Bollens believed batting out of his turn in a critical part of the game.

Harry Fullerton was out in left field for the Lions for a while, but he felt the hook. Earl Rhodes occupied the first base for the Lions for a brief spell and he also was given a ride on the stretcher.

Dr. R. A. Hallquist forgot to slide at second and was tagged out. Walter Murphy displayed great form on first base and field when there were no balls in his territory, but he was finally yanked and given a trip by the hot cross men to warm the bench.

Tex Rickard Keeps Boxing World on Edge

Chicago — Tex Rickard kept the boxing world on edge again today once more promising that before night he would be ready to announce a site and a date for the Dempsey-Tunney match he proposes to promote. Chicago fight fans were encouraged in their hope that the championship would be decided here when the New York boxing commission once more refused to allow a Dempsey-Tunney match until the champion meets Harry Wills, the Negro contender.

To Decide on Announcer

New York—The New York boxing commission is going to say who will be the announcer when prize fight decisions are broadcast. It decided to allow none but men the commission recognizes as experts to broadcast from arenas.

Harrison "Jimmy" Johnston, of St. Paul, medalist in the qualifying round, was matched with Robert McDougal of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Johnston's brilliant play which gave him a 141 in the first 36 holes, three under par, was certain to attract a large gallery. Johnston and McDougal each needed 73's for the 18 holes yesterday.

Keefe Carter, of Oklahoma City, the defending champion, wsa to meet H. A. Fleagar, of Seattle, in the first round. Carter, as champion, did not play in the qualifying round. Fleagar bettered his game yesterday with a 74 and had a 151 for the 36 holes.

Johnston's sensational playing in the first 18 holes of the qualifying round gave him the medal honors. He had 68 the first day. But his 73 yesterday also was a feat and gave him 141, four strokes out in front.

Dinsmore Shute, of Huntington, W. Va., was second low qualifier. He brought in a 70, two under par, late in the day for a 36 hole total of 145. Shute was going good on yesterday's first nine and after being one over fours for the first five holes, shot four birdies in a row for a 33.

Jack Ward, of Kansas City; Jack Westland, of Seattle, and Eldridge Robinson of Chicago, and Douglas Casey of Chicago, were next among the qualifiers. Ward had 146 for the 36 holes, and Westland, Robinson and Casey 147 each.

Johnson started out to equal his 68 of the day before and sailed along nicely until he reached the turn. But coming in, he got into difficulty with his putter.

It was necessary to play off a tie in which five players were tied at 156. Robert McKee, Des Moines, and A. L. Miller, Chicago, won out.

Seven of the eight Pacfic coast stars were among those left in the game. Four were close to the top with cards of better than 150—Jack Westland of Seattle, Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Bon Stein, of Seattle and Frank Dolp of Portland.

Charles "Chick" Evans of Chicago came back to form after taking 78 on his first 18 holes and his card yesterday was 71. He scored a 33 on his last nine holes.

Pairings today and qualifying scores follow:

Keefe Carter, Oklahoma City, champion, and H. A. Fleagar, Seattle, 151.

B. E. Stein, Seattle, 149, and L. B. Maytag, Des Moines, 153.

Eldridge Robinson, Chicago, 147, and Arthur Tverra, Minneapolis, 152.

Charles Evans, Jr., Chicago, 149, and Anthony Haynes, Rockford, Ill., 155.

Douglas Casey, Chicago, 147, and William Medart, St. Louis, 153.

J. M. Pollard, Omaha, 150, and A. L. Miller, Chicago, 156.

Rudy Knepper, Chicago, 149, and Russell Martin, Chicago, 155.

Dinsmore Shute, Huntington, W. Va., 145, and Eddie Held, St. Louis, 152.

Harrison Johnston, St. Paul, 141, and Robert McDougal, Kalamazoo, 151.

Frank Dolp, Portland, 149, and Harry Legg, Minneapolis, 154.

Jack Westland, Seattle, 147, and Charles Hunter, Tacoma, 153.

Billy Sixty, Milwaukee, 150, and R. S. Juran, Minneapolis, 155.

Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 148, and James Manion, St. Louis, 153.

John McKinley, Chicago, 151, and Kenneth Hisert, Chicago, 156.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, 148, and Lester Bolstad, Minneapolis, 155.

James C. Ward, Kansas City, 146, and Jimmie Wall, Spokane, 152.

Hagen Wins Eastern Golf Play

Delaware Water Gap, Pa.—Walter Hagen won the eastern professional golf championship yesterday turning in a total score of 246 for 36 holes. He was nine strokes ahead of Johnny Farrell who was 5 ahead of Bill Mehlhorn, the third place man.

Hagen's score was within one stroke of the record for low medal play made by Emmett French in 1922 in the Ohio State tournament. His score yesterday was 74 in the morning round and 69 in the afternoon.

MRS. A. SWANSON DIES ON VISIT

Death Came Last Night at Minneapolis Where She Was Visiting Daughters

BROTHER DIED JUNE 27

Left Brainerd Last Friday in Fine Health; Funeral Arrangements Incomplete

Word was received here today that the death took place at Minneapolis last evening of Mrs. August Swanson, wife of August Swanson, police officer in the city of Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. Swanson left Brainerd last Friday for Minneapolis to visit their daughters Mrs. Edna Bocklund, and Nora Swanson. No information as to the cause of the death has been received.

Mrs. Swanson is survived by a husband and three daughters, Mrs. Edna Bocklund, Nora Swanson, Minneapolis and Sylvia Swanson, of Brainerd. She is also survived by three brothers, Lars Ericsson, Florida; Nels Ericsson, of Pelican Rapids, Minn., Andrew Ericsson, of Brainerd and two sisters, Mrs. Theodore Hanson, of Reedley, Calif., and Mrs. Peter Skoglund, of Sweden.

Mrs. Swanson was about 50 years old. Funeral arrangements have not been completed yet but the body will be brought here.

A brother of Mrs. Swanson, Erick Ericsson, died in Brainerd on June 27.

JUNE REPORT GIVEN

County Nurse Made 72 Visits to Homes, Total Number Amounting to 108

The report of the County Nurse for June mentions total number of visits to homes, 72; total number of visits, 108.

Of this number, there were four nursing care, 47 instruction and demonstration, such as visits to orthopedic cases, tuberculosis, maternity, prenatal, school children and babies. There were 39 calls for the purpose of investigating communicable diseases. These diseases included diptheria, scarlet fever, chicken pox. Eighteen miscellaneous visits were made.

Five visits to school rooms were made the first part of the month. One hundred and sixty-one children were inspected, eighty-nine of which were defective and twenty-three with defects corrected.

One maternity case was accompanied to the hospital. Arrangements were made for tonsillectomies for two children. One application was sent to the University Hospital.

Two tuberculosis clinics were held with an attendance of eight, six of which were new cases and two old.

Dr. Blakey from the State Board of Health, Division of Preventable Diseases, and Miss Appleby from the State Board of Health, Division of Venercal Diseases, were visitors during the month.

Be Careful With Mirrors

A very common belief is that the breaking of a mirror will bring seven years of bad luck. This belief is said to have come from the use of mirrors by magicians in former times. If the magician broke the mirror those who consulted him could get no replies to their questions. But the nature of the ill-luck sometimes depends upon who breaks it. If a maiden breaks a mirror superstition tells her that she will never marry. On the other hand, if a married woman breaks it, the "sign" is death.—Exchange.

Sorry He Spoke

During the World war the officers frequently had difficulty in getting the proper salutes from the negro recruits. One bright morning a negro private met the colonel of his regiment and greeted him with "Howdy, boss."

There followed a long tirade from the officer on the correct way to salute. The other listened in silence, scratching his head in perplexity. Finally he interrupted long enough to say:

"Land's sakes, boss, if Ah'd thought you was goin' to feel so bad about it, Ah wouldn't have spoke to you a-tall."

New Use for Masks

Gas masks of the type that protected soldiers during the World war were pressed into service by a crew of workers in London while hunting leaks in the city gas mains. The hazard of the job was increased by the necessity of working in deep trenches where vapors had insufficient chance to escape in case flows of considerable pressure were encountered. With the masks, the workers were able to make a thorough search.

Criminals No Longer Suffer Under Torture

The disappearance of many cruel methods of punishment, practiced in the past, has been recalled by the abolition of the bastinado in Turkey, a system by which the victim suffered many hours of agony by a long-continued series of light blows, hardly more than tapping. In 315 Constantine abolished the punishment of crucifixion, less, perhaps, for reasons of humanity than of religion. It was largely under religious auspices that the practice of burning to death was carried on till the Seventeenth century; a witch was even burned at the stake at Dornoch in 1708. The rack was last used in 1640 on Archer, who took part in an attack on Laud's palace. The last to suffer the thumbscrew was Principal Carstares, at Holyrood, because of his connections with the Rye house plot (1683). "Peine forte et dure" (pressing to death), though it was not abolished till 1772, claimed a last victim at Cambridge assizes in 1741. The long queue of those who had stood in the pillory was brought up by Peter James Bossy, perjurer, who went through the ordeal on June 22, 1630.—London Times.

THREE YOUTHS BEATING WAY

Taken From Freight Train in N. P. Yards Last Night; on Way to Dakotas

16 YEAR OLD MINNEAPOLIS BOYS

Had Planned to Work in Harvest; Must go Back to School This Fall Instead

Three Minneapolis youths all 16 years old were taken from a freight train in the Northern Pacific yards last night by Special Officer Jacobson, and on their appearance in juvenile court today changed their intentions of riding the rails via freight train to the Dakotas.

The youths stated they had boarded the freight train in Minneapolis yesterday and had planned on "beating" their way to the Dakotas where they were going to work in the harvest there.

Today the police notified the parents of the three boys with the result that they will likely have to return to Minneapolis and start school his fall rather than work in the fields.

"Showing Off" Seldom a Trait of Sterner Sex

Modesty in man seems to be inherent. It appears at a very early age and is apparently independent of training. The little girl begins to show pleasure in being noticed and in wearing nice clothes. The little boy is the shyest creature imaginable. His one longing is to look exactly like all other boys and to be lost in the mob, is the assertion of Ramsey Traquair, in the Atlantic Monthly.

Most boys pass through agonies on going first to school, because their collar is not quite the right pattern or their tie is the wrong color. It is not until a fairly late age that they learn to have an individuality. Many men, indeed, remain boys in this all their lives, each one is of "the crowd," and unfortunately our present system of education tends to keep them so.

One of the difficulties in introducing the boy scout movement into Canada was the shyness of the boys. They were ashamed to show their knees or elbows. In the United States the boy scouts still modestly cover these parts. Girls, as we know, have no such shyness.

Wherever man is supreme, as in Turkey or India or classic Greece, he enforces modesty on women. Wherever woman rebels against his rule he denounces each new thing she does as immodest or unwomanly.

His race will perish. The fate of the race is inherent in the fate of the individual.

Man is not more intelligent today than he was of old. He has accumulated resources of every kind and he employs them in order to create others. But the inventor of wireless telegraphy is not more intelligent than the inventor of the wheel.

He has more industry, not more brains. He makes war with more devices, but not with more intelligence than the savage.—From "Last Pages," by Anatole France, Translated From the French by Michel Corday.

THREE YOUTHS BEATING WAY

Taken From Freight Train in N. P. Yards Last Night; on Way to Dakotas

16 YEAR OLD MINNEAPOLIS BOYS

Had Planned to Work in Harvest; Must go Back to School This Fall Instead

Three Minneapolis youths all 16 years old were taken from a freight train in the Northern Pacific yards last night by Special Officer Jacobson, and on their appearance in juvenile court today changed their intentions of riding the rails via freight train to the Dakotas.

The youths stated they had boarded the freight train in Minneapolis yesterday and had planned on "beating" their way to the Dakotas where they were going to work in the harvest there.

Today the police notified the parents of the three boys with the result that they will likely have to return to Minneapolis and start school his fall rather than work in the fields.

"Showing Off" Seldom a Trait of Sterner Sex

Modesty in man seems to be inherent. It appears at a very early age and is apparently independent of training. The little girl begins to show pleasure in being noticed and in wearing nice clothes. The little boy is the shyest creature imaginable. His one longing is to look exactly like all other boys and to be lost in the mob, is the assertion of Ramsey Traquair, in the Atlantic Monthly.

Most boys pass through agonies on going first to school, because their collar is not quite the right pattern or their tie is the wrong color. It is not until a fairly late age that they learn to have an individuality. Many men, indeed, remain boys in this all their lives, each one is of "the crowd," and unfortunately our present system of education tends to keep them so.

One of the difficulties in introducing the boy scout movement into Canada was the shyness of the boys. They were ashamed to show their knees or elbows. In the United States the boy scouts still modestly cover these parts. Girls, as we know, have no such shyness.

Wherever man is supreme, as in Turkey or India or classic Greece, he enforces modesty on women. Wherever woman rebels against his rule he denounces each new thing she does as immodest or unwomanly.

CLAIM RICKARD CAN'T STAGE FIGHT IN NEW YORK CITY

EDICT OF NEW YORK BOXING COMMISSION ON DEMPSEY-TUNNEY BOUT

COMMISSION NOW COMPLETELY UNDER DOMINATION OF JAMES A. FARLEY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 21—Tex Rickard, if he wishes, can stage a fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship in Chicago, in Moscow or in Spitzbergen, but he cannot stage it within the state of New York.

This unofficially is the edict of the New York boxing commission, which, by a stroke of politics, clever enough to swing a national convention, became completely under the domination of James A. Farley, chairman of the commission and the champion of Harry Wills' cause, late yesterday.

Tex Rickard, playing poker, a game that he knows best, by telegraph from Chicago, showed the commission a hand which said:

"If I can't stage my pet fight in New York, I'll put it on in Chicago and look what the New York state treasury will lose in taxes."

And the commission, through the chairman, answered, "check."

The announcement of the committee following a meeting that was expected to set off all kinds of personal and political bombs, ended in this announcement from the chairman:

"Mr. Muldoon moved that the Dempsey-Tunney case be reopened.

"Mr. Brower moved that the motion be tabled and it was tabled.

"We will answer no questions from the press. Good evening, gentlemen!"

Farley is chairman of the commission and Muldoon and Brower are the only other members. So it's a bet that Dempsey and Tunney never will meet in New York, as long as Farley is in the saddle and he certainly is riding now.

Chicago, July 21.—Tex Rickard, New York promoter, today told the United Press he expects to announce this afternoon that the Dempsey-Tunney fight for the world's heavyweight championship will be held in Chicago September 16.

"I have made excellent progress in my efforts to negotiate a heavyweight title bout in Chicago," Rickard said, "and I expect that by 3 o'clock this afternoon, maybe a little later, I can definitely announce that Dempsey and Tunney will enter the ring to settle the championship.

"The fight probably will be held September 16 and I fully expect it to be one of the most successful in my career as a promoter."

Rickard has been in Chicago for several days negotiating for the title bout. His activities for a time were discounted on the supposition that he was trying to bluff the New York boxing commission into permitting the match in New York. The commission definitely said "no" to such arrangements late yesterday, however, and Rickard is now confident that the match will be held in Chicago.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 21.—"I talked to Tex Rickard over the telephone," said Jack Dempsey here today, "and he said all there was left to do was to anounce my match with Gene Tunney, September 16.

"I will leave here about August 1 and go to Chicago," the heavyweight champion continued. "I will train somewhere along Lake Michigan for the bout."

Dempsey expressed pleasure that arrangements had been made for him to fight Tunney.

ALL-NATIONS TO PLAY N. P. TEAM HERE ON SUNDAY

KANSAS CITY TRAVELLING TEAM BOOKED FOR BASEBALL CONTEST

RATED ONE OF BEST SEMI-PRO TEAMS IN COUNTRY, HAS GOOD RECORD

The All-Nations baseball team of Kansas City will play here on Sunday, July 25, meeting the local N. P. city team. The game promises to bring out some of the classiest baseball seen on a local diamond in a long time.

The visitors are rated among the best semi-pro teams in the country, having a good record of wins. Their line-up includes a number of Indians, one Filipino, one Mexican, two or three Irishmen and Dutchmen, and a few other cosmopolitan members.

Their star hurler is Johnny Weigle, the Dutch Duster, who has won 11 of his last 15 starts.

The local N. P. team will include the best in the city, the regular team being in uniform, and Tracy on the pitching mound.

SPECULATIVE STOCK RALLY

New York, July 21—(UP)—Rather conclusive evidence that Tuesday's short selling movement had represented a technical reaction to correct the market reaction after the recent extensive advances was featured by price movements today.

Professionals made an effort toward lower prices, but the weak spots had been pretty well shaken up on the previous day.

Liquidation was no longer forthcoming and the professional contingent turned to the upside and abrupt rallies ensued among the speculative leaders. This recovery was helped along by the demonstration of the flourishing condition of the steel industry reflected in Republic Iron's ability to earn at an annual rate of better than $10 a share in the first six months.

The market closed lower.

STOCKS BREAK ON HEARING FRENCH REPORT

New York, July 21—(UP)—Stocks broke badly in the late trading on the announcement by Finance Minister de Monzie that the bank of France might be compelled to suspend payments to the government tomorrow. The tickers flooded with the onrush of fast changing quotations, ran 12 minutes behind closing time at 3 o'clock.

"Mr. Brower moved that the motion be tabled and it was tabled.

"We will answer no questions from the press. Good evening, gentlemen!"

Farley is chairman of the commission and Muldoon and Brower are the only other members. So it's a bet that Dempsey and Tunney never will meet in New York, as long as Farley is in the saddle and he certainly is riding now.

Chicago, July 21.—Tex Rickard, New York promoter, today told the United Press he expects to announce this afternoon that the Dempsey-Tunney fight for the world's heavyweight championship will be held in Chicago September 16.

"I have made excellent progress in my efforts to negotiate a heavyweight title bout in Chicago," Rickard said, "and I expect that by 3 o'clock this afternoon, maybe a little later, I can definitely announce that Dempsey and Tunney will enter the ring to settle the championship.

"The fight probably will be held September 16 and I fully expect it to be one of the most successful in my career as a promoter."

Rickard has been in Chicago for several days negotiating for the title bout. His activities for a time were discounted on the supposition that he was trying to bluff the New York boxing commission into permitting the match in New York. The commission definitely said "no" to such arrangements late yesterday, however, and Rickard is now confident that the match will be held in Chicago.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 21.—"I talked to Tex Rickard over the telephone," said Jack Dempsey here today, "and he said all there was left to do was to anounce my match with Gene Tunney, September 16.

"I will leave here about August 1 and go to Chicago," the heavyweight champion continued. "I will train somewhere along Lake Michigan for the bout."

Dempsey expressed pleasure that arrangements had been made for him to fight Tunney.

ALL-NATIONS TO PLAY N. P. TEAM HERE ON SUNDAY

KANSAS CITY TRAVELLING TEAM BOOKED FOR BASEBALL CONTEST

RATED ONE OF BEST SEMI-PRO TEAMS IN COUNTRY, HAS GOOD RECORD

The All-Nations baseball team of Kansas City will play here on Sunday, July 25, meeting the local N. P. city team. The game promises to bring out some of the classiest baseball seen on a local diamond in a long time.

The visitors are rated among the best semi-pro teams in the country, having a good record of wins. Their line-up includes a number of Indians, one Filipino, one Mexican, two or three Irishmen and Dutchmen, and a few other cosmopolitan members.

Their star hurler is Johnny Weigle, the Dutch Duster, who has won 11 of his last 15 starts.

The local N. P. team will include the best in the city, the regular team being in uniform, and Tracy on the pitching mound.

SPECULATIVE STOCK RALLY

New York, July 21—(UP)—Rather conclusive evidence that Tuesday's short selling movement had represented a technical reaction to correct the market reaction after the recent extensive advances was featured by price movements today.

Professionals made an effort toward lower prices, but the weak spots had been pretty well shaken up on the previous day.

Liquidation was no longer forthcoming and the professional contingent turned to the upside and abrupt rallies ensued among the speculative leaders. This recovery was helped along by the demonstration of the flourishing condition of the steel industry reflected in Republic Iron's ability to earn at an annual rate of better than $10 a share in the first six months.

The market closed lower.

STOCKS BREAK ON HEARING FRENCH REPORT

New York, July 21—(UP)—Stocks broke badly in the late trading on the announcement by Finance Minister de Monzie that the bank of France might be compelled to suspend payments to the government tomorrow. The tickers flooded with the onrush of fast changing quotations, ran 12 minutes behind closing time at 3 o'clock.

Who Are Hunkies?

"Hunkie" is a slang term of contempt and derision which is applied to foreigners, especially to immigrants from southern Europe. Apparently the origin of the word is unknown. Like the words dago, wop, kike, harp, bohunk, greaser, spick, polack, chink and many others, it is not used by people who regard the feelings of others.—Pathfinder Magazine.

"Dreamer's" Idea

A correspondent appropriately signing himself "dreamer" suggests a solution of the home-heating problem by piping hot air from Mexico and the Bermudas, having for its intake in the tropics an immense funnel through which the air could be forced by pressure.

Practice Spirit of Love

Everywhere there is need of neighborliness—not only in the great tragedies of life, but in the common experiences. We need each other continually, and there is no one to whom we cannot make life mean a little more any common day by showing the spirit of love.—J. R. Miller.

Poet Lost at Sea

William Falconer, a Scottish poet of the Eighteenth century, was the son of a barber. He was lost at sea in 1769, when the frigate Aurora, of which he was a purser, went down with all hands.

AFTER MUCH ADO GEORGE THE GREEK ORDERED RELEASED

Pittsburgh, July 21. — (UP)—George the Greek Psilias, 29, today was released from jail when Pittsburgh and Canton, O., authorities decided they were unable to bring any charges against him in connection with the murder of Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton Daily News. It was intimated that Psilias might be rearrested on an old shooting charge which had been allowed to lapse.

Great Men of Early Times

Socrates was the greatest of Greek philosophers. Plato is regarded as the most famous of ancient philosophers. Aristotle and Pythagoras were, respectively, a great Greek philosopher and an early Greek philosopher. Pericles was an Athenian statesman. Herodotus was a Greek historian. Orpheus was the most illustrious poet of pre-Homeric times. Aeschylus was a celebrated Greek tragic poet.

Old Resident Given Up by Physicians

"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation. I rebelled on cutting me open, as I am 75 years old. A neighbor advised trying MAYR'S for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was as yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere. —Advt

Over the Whispering Wires

THERE are two kinds of newspapers in the United States—those which are privileged to carry news BY UNITED PRESS and those which are not. The UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS have American-born, American-trained reporters all over the world gathering the news of the hour, sending it to us and to you over the whispering wires.

UNITED! Remember the word. BY UNITED PRESS! Remember the name.

Your enjoyment of your favorite newspaper will greatly be enhanced if you know something of the size and the enterprise of the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS.

Not long ago the UNITED PRESS brought you the story of Hammouch Ben Hadge who reached Oujda one day-break after running seventy miles to carry a dispatch from his Riffian leader.

And it was the UNITED PRESS which, that day, brought you equally thrilling messages from Paris, from London, from Cairo, from Brussels—from Buenos Aires, Havana, Tokio, Rome, Liverpool, Hongkong, Berlin, La Paz, Budapest and other news-sources throughout the world.

The UNITED PRESS operates more than 85,000 miles of leased wires in North America alone. A vast web of UNITED PRESS wires girdle the globe.

These world-wide lines of communication have been opened and established by American enterprise. More than 12,000,000 newspaper readers share with you the benefits of this service which has no superior in efficiency and accuracy.

Look for the trade-mark BY UNITED PRESS over the news items you read in this newspaper each day.
